

HARVEY CHANGES MIND ABOUT PLEA OF GUILTY

Escape Artist Fails To Admit Charges Involving Stolen Automobile.

MACON, Ga., July 29.—(P)—Lealand Harvey, Macon had boy and oft-times fugitive from Georgia prisons, returned here today to plead guilty to two federal charges but changed his mind. He was sent back to the Dougherty county jail at Albany where he has been in custody.

Harvey's failure to comply with his own request that he be allowed to enter a plea resulted in his being returned to the Dougherty county jail at Albany where he has been in custody.

The two men escaped from the Troup county chain gang May 18 and later were recaptured in Nashville, Tenn. They were brought here secretly.

Several days ago the federal grand jury in Athens returned an indictment containing two counts against each man.

In one count they were charged with interstate transportation of an automobile stolen here from R. M. Chandler May 21. The second count charged flight to another state to avoid prosecution on a state robbery charge growing out of the holdup of Chandler.

Williams told court officials he was ready to plead guilty to both counts. Harvey said he would plead to the first count but not to the second.

Had he entered a plea to both, he would have been liable to a maximum sentence of five years on each count, as would Williams.

Copies of the Athens indictment had been sent to each prisoner. Federal officials said each had written them that they wished to plead guilty and "get it over with."

Williams was serving on a bank robbery charge; Harvey for a bank robbery charge.

Harvey nonplussed officers with a request to see his wife. The officers said they had never heard of his being married.

The lumberman-farmer reported workmen excavating for reconstruction of an old mill on his place first dug up a few loose coins.

In the gold then struck and feverish digging brought the workers to the "pot," described as a "large" cap-shaped affair that might have been a hub on a mill wheel.

Citizens who saw the coins said "the gold was untarnished but some silver coins were black."

LIVESTOCK INDUSTRY GROWS AT SAVANNAH

Many Animals Are Slaughtered There. Rotary Members Are Told.

SAVANNAH, Ga., July 29.—(P)—Rogers Wood, Savannah livestock man, told the Rotary Club the livestock industry had developed rapidly here during recent years.

"At our local abattoir there are being slaughtered for home consumption 12,000 cattle, 2,000 hogs, and more than 1,000 head of sheep, lambs and goats annually," he said.

"It behooves us as members of the Rotary Club to encourage and foster such industries. Certainly if we do not fight locally for his boys and girls they will be lured away by our smaller cities."

He said it was only last year that Armour reopened their Tifton plant after a shutdown of 16 years, spending for improvements around $300,000. The Cudahy Packing Company now has under construction at Albany a big project. Others are looking for sites and will soon announce their plans.

"It takes industries such as these and those of the smaller types to enable the farmer and cattle raiser to get the top dollar for his hogs and cattle. I shudder to think just how little the farmer would realize from his livestock were it all sold in the carcasses form, and in the butchers for beef purposes only."

FLOYD HOUSE POSTS ARE SOUGHT BY FIVE

C. W. Kieckhefer, vice president of the Greenville Bank, said his section expected good crops and a good business year.

'Every Taxpayer a Voter' Keynote Of Appeal by City-County League

"Every taxpayer a voter" is the keynote of an appeal addressed to every citizen of Fulton County yesterday by Frank Carter, president of the Taxpayers' League of Atlanta and Fulton County.

The registration of every taxpayer is called for by Carter, who declared: "The league wants a county-wide organization with representatives from every ward in the city and from every district in the county. It wants hundreds of taxpayers from the entire community who are interested and active in obtaining its objectives."

Too many public officials seem to regard their offices as their own, instead of belonging to the people, declared Carter.

"A small minority of officeholders, closely organized, usually controls elections and citizens should join together to work for simplification of local government, and duplication of effort, reduce costs and establish efficiency."

Expressing his amazement at the number of taxpayers who are not registered, Carter said:

"No taxpayer can, with fairness, criticize present government unless he is a voter."

Carter also announced that the league will open offices at 225 Palmer building Monday morning.

Officers of the Taxpayers' League are Frank Carter, president; Morris Ewing, vice president; John P. Stewart, secretary, and a board of directors composed of R. C. McGill, chairman; Charles Babb, B. H. Burgess, Wellborn R. Ellis, Paul Maddox, Edgar Neely, Dr. Louis D. Newton, Thomas H. Pitts and E. A. Wachendorf.

Statement by Carter. His statement in full follows:

"The Taxpayers' League of Atlanta and Fulton County has adopted the following objectives for 1936:

"1. Every taxpayer a voter.
"2. To work for simplification of local government to the end that duplication of effort may be eliminated, costs reduced, and efficiency established.

"3. To co-operate with other organizations working to obtain passage of constitutional amendment limiting ad valorem taxes and permitting classification.

"In subsequent articles, the constitutional amendment limiting taxes will be fully discussed.

"The first step in improving local government is to get every taxpayer to register and vote. No taxpayer can, with fairness, criticize present government unless he is a voter. Therefore, the first objective:

"Every taxpayer a voter.

"Simplification of government by removal of duplication is our second objective. In my opinion, there exists in local government a vast amount of duplication and wasteful effort. Practically all efforts toward co-operative handling of local situations have spent themselves upon the rocks of jealousy between city and county government. The merger commission now at work in Fulton county seeking facts about local government is faced with either half-hearted co-operation or active opposition. Too many of our public officials, especially those determining policies, seem to regard their offices as their own, instead of belonging to the people.

To Taxpayers League of Atlanta and Fulton County,
225 Palmer Building,
Atlanta, Ga.

You may enroll me as a member of the Taxpayers League and count on me to support its 1936 objectives. I am registered.

Lindley Camp Won't Tell Police Name of Pugnacious Companion

Learning Adjutant General Lindley Camp was present at an altercation Tuesday afternoon on Edgewood avenue at Ivy street, police yesterday were still in the dark as to the identity of a man who was with Camp and is alleged to have struck Le B. Merck, a structural steel worker, of 1788 Lakewood avenue. Camp refused to divulge the name of his companion.

Merck told standing on the corner talking to a friend and in the course of the conversation remarked "Phooey to you."

He said two men jumped from an automobile when he made the remark and asked him to repeat it. It turned out, Merck said, that the "short stout man" had a Talmadge sign on his car and thought Merck was casting the remark his way. Merck said he walked around the car to see if the sign was there and then remarked that he would not vote for Talmadge no matter who was running against him.

Merck declared a tall man, about 35 years old, then struck him on the left cheek with his fist and pulled out a gun. He said when he saw the gun he pulled out his knife. At that point, Merck said, the argument was abandoned, after several warnings from the "short stout man" for the combatants to put up their weapons. Merck took the license number of the car and complained to police. Chief

A. J. Holcombe tried to trace the license Tuesday without success. Chief Holcombe was perplexed at the time, he said, because the young lady who answered the phone at the state capital told him she was "unable to find the records" when he asked for the name of the person taking out the license. It was not known the license was issued to Mr. Camp until Detective Douglas Poole and D. L. Taylor traced the number to him yesterday.

Mr. Camp admitted to Detective Poole over the telephone the incident had occurred and that he was on the scene at the time, but refused to divulge the name of his companion. He said, however, his companion did not draw his gun until after Merck had taken out his knife.

Camp was reported at Lincolnton yesterday with Governor Talmadge. The detectives said they will investigate further when he returns if Merck wishes to continue the complaint.

AFFAIRS ARE CHARGED TO MARY ASTOR MATE

Nurse Says She Served Meals in Bed to Doctor and Women.

LOS ANGELES, July 29.—(AP)—Mary Astor confided in her diary that she was in love with another man three months before their divorce, her former husband, Dr. Franklyn Thorpe, charged in an affidavit filed tonight in the court battle with the former actress over custody of their four-year-old daughter.

The other man was identified only as "George."

A few minutes later, a nurse testified that four different women had spent the night on various occasions with Dr. Thorpe and that she frequently had served breakfast to the physician and his women guests in his bedroom, adjoining that of the blonde, curly-haired child.

Dr. Thorpe's affidavit was entered into superior court records in Dr. Thorpe's efforts to retain custody of his daughter, Marylyn. Miss Astor began action by charging the physician threatened to publicly "scandalize" her if she contested the divorce, and Dr. Thorpe replied with the charge she was of "gross immoral" conduct.

Dr. Thorpe testified briefly, charging his wife was quarrelsome and drank.

The affidavit of Dr. Thorpe said: "On or about February 8, 1935, the defendant (Miss Astor) in her own statement in writing said:

"I would wait a few months, let Franklyn think he had won by telling him that George and I were through—and in six months—a year maybe—bring it up again when he had no grounds for cross-complaint.

"Marylyn's development is purely physical—love, rest, diet, exercise, discipline. All these things Franklyn can give her as well as I. Later on I can move to have the custody changed over to me. It would be very hard for them to dig up an old affair against me."

Testimony of a nurse that four different women had spent the night on various occasions with Dr. Thorpe also was introduced tonight.

Miss Nellie Richardson, formerly employed as a nurse for the child in Dr. Thorpe's Hollywood home, testified she had frequently served breakfast to the physician and his women guests in his bedroom, adjoining that of the blonde, curly-haired child.

Although the room held twin beds, the nurse testified, only one was ever disturbed on such occasions.

She named the woman she said had been overnight guests of Dr. Thorpe as Miss Norma Taylor, Miss Betty Graff, Mrs. Lillian Miles and Mrs. Madge Scotland.

DEATH TOLL RISES IN POLIO OUTBREAK

Georgia Reports Four New Diagnoses and Third Fatality.

By the Associated Press.

Infantile paralysis raised its death toll to 21 and increased its list of stricken to 320 Wednesday in Alabama, Tennessee, Georgia and Mississippi.

Medical authorities, however, still were hopeful that precautionary measures already taken over a wide area would begin forcing downward the trend of spread by the end of the week.

Georgia, last of the states affected, reported four new diagnoses and its third death from the disease Wednesday, all of them in the northwestern area. The state counted three new cases Tuesday although there have been only 17 cases diagnosed there since January 1.

Alabama's 13th death was reported Wednesday, along with four new cases in Jefferson county, and one each in Talladega, Franklin and Blount counties.

Tennessee registered two new cases, in previously unaffected counties. The case total stood at 62 and the death list at five.

Mississippi heard of no new cases. Dr. J. N. Baker, Alabama health officer, explained that poliomyelitis is essentially "a warm weather disease" and said if the current outbreak could be kept under control until cooler weather it probably would vanish.

Candidate for Governor Speaks to Metter, Hinesville Audiences.

METTER, Ga., July 29.—A constructive, progressive administration for Georgia if he is elected governor was promised here this afternoon by Judge W. W. Larsen, of Dublin.

"The greatest handicap to the proper functioning of our state government today," said Judge Larsen, "is a limited session of the legislature held every two years. I favor annual sessions of the assembly and a flat salary of $500 per annum, which is the same as it costs now, but with the right and duty of the assembly to remain in session until they have completed their work."

BOARD SUMMONED IN COUNTY CAR QUIZ
Fulton Commissioners Called To Appear Before Special Committee Today.

Fulton county commissioners were summoned yesterday to appear before a special committee of the Fulton grand jury today as the investigation of the use of county-owned cars by employees while off duty continues.

Notification was sent to Dr. Charles R. Adams, board chairman, and Commissioners George F. Longino, Ed Adams, J. A. Ragdale and Edwin F. Johnson to come before the committee at 11 o'clock this morning to answer questions regarding what use employees make of county cars and county gas.

Johnson was said to be at Sea Island where he has a summer home. He is chairman of the police committee, which post is held by Ragdale in his absence.

J. S. Jenkins, chairman of the investigating group, said "progress is being made" following interviews with five county officials yesterday. He announced another special meeting will be held Monday morning also, at which other department heads will be heard.

HOLC STATE OFFICE CHANGES QUARTERS
The state office of the Home Owners' Loan Corporation moved yesterday from the Grant building into new quarters on the second floor of Ten Forest building.

Clarence Chamberlin Lands Here, Reveals Plans for New Ocean Hop

Clarence Chamberlin, noted transatlantic flyer, disclosed plans here yesterday for a semi-stratosphere flight to Europe, probably from New York city to Germany.

The slim, 42-year-old pilot who achieved fame in 1927 when he flew the Atlantic with Charles Levine, landed here yesterday morning to see about having a ship at the municipal airport overhauled before being put into sight-seeing service at Akron, Ohio. He came here from Irbay, Ky., where he was forced down Tuesday by engine trouble and thunderstorms while flying here from the Ohio city.

Some time within the next two months he and Mrs. Chamberlin, a bride of only a month, hope to take off in a specially built plane for Germany.

"I expect to take Mrs. Chamberlin, if her 110 pounds won't make too much weight," he said. "Of course the weight of the two-way radio, the oxygen tanks and the heating equipment will have to be taken into consideration."

"Our flight will be semi-stratospheric. That is, we will fly at about 35,000 feet, where the air is thin, there are no storms and there is a constant wind from the west. The tail wind will be a big help."

He said he expects to fly between 300 and 400 miles an hour, crossing the Atlantic in from five to six hours. If he is successful, Chamberlin said, he will demonstrate the practicability of upper-air flying, where speed is greater and there is no danger of storms. In addition, he expects the flight to be the forerunner of "one truly in the upper air, in a plane built specially for stratosphere flying."

Accompanied by Andrew Rallia, his mechanic, Mr. Chamberlin is visiting Art Bussey, member of an Atlanta airplane firm. The noted flyer and Rallia expect to return to Akron today.

MRS. WOODWARD TAKEN BY DEATH
Prominent Member of Druid Hills Methodist Passes at Daughter's Home.

Mrs. Woodward, who was 59, was a native of Keyesville, Burke county. She was the former Miss Gertrude Clark, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Clark, pioneer Burke countians. Before her marriage in 1899, she lived in Tensdale.

Mrs. Woodward was for many years active in the Missionary Society of Druid Hills Methodist church, and took part in other affairs of the church.

Besides Mrs. Dobbs, surviving are her husband, a son, M. S. Woodward Jr., of Hattiesburg, Miss., and a sister, Mrs. K. Destring, of Atlanta.

Final rites will be held at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Spring Hill chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son, The Rev. John Brandon Peters will officiate, and burial will be in West View cemetery.

REZONING SOUGHT ON PONCE DE LEON Church Objects to Business Rating for Apartments at 1059.

Petition to rezone a Ponce de Leon apartment house location for business was taken under consideration yesterday by the zoning committee of the planning commission after hearing vigorous protests from representatives of the Druid Hills Presbyterian church against any change.

The Rev. W. M. Elliott, of the Druid Hills church, told the committee he would object to rezoning 1059 Ponce de Leon for business if it is planned to erect a motion picture house there "because Sunday movies have a demoralizing effect." A. E. Marcus sought the change in regulations, averring the apartment at 1059, owned by his family, was losing money.

An Atlanta businessman told the committee that "Ponce de Leon is the coming business street in Atlanta, thousands of cars and hundreds of thousands of people pass along it daily, with nickels and dimes to spend. You cannot stop Ponce de Leon from being a business street for long."

Walter S. MacNeal Jr., chairman of the subcommittee, presided at the meeting. A hearing on rezoning certain property on Stewart avenue will be taken up at the next regular session, two weeks from yesterday.

es, berries, and such grapes as can be supplied.

Stokes Active in Deal.

Instrumental in bringing this nationally known concern to Georgia was D. L. Stokes, of D. L. Stokes & Co., Inc., who advocated passage of Georgia's new wine law by the last legislature. Mr. Stokes recognized the opportunity afforded Georgia farmers in grape and berry culture for wine-making and has been in touch with the winery concern.

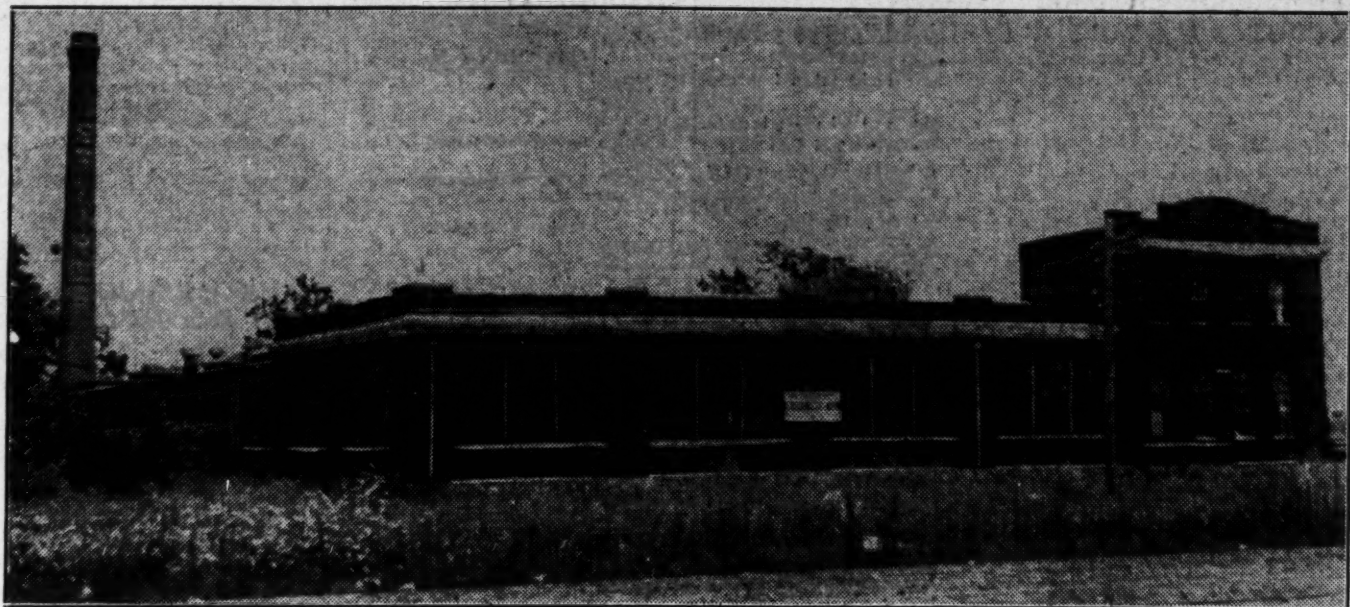

Garrett & Co. was represented in the transaction by Mr. Stokes, and the Associated Companies, Inc., lessors, by Jesse Draper, president of Draper-Owens Co.

"You have an anomalous situation here in Georgia," said Mr. Garrett, "you have the finest and best wine law in the land, and yet you have no products from which to make wine—that is, no grape products, which is the recognized popular product for wine. Until about two years ago no other wine was recognized."

Major Plant.

Mr. Garrett further said the Atlanta plant was destined to be the major activity of his big company which has been operating in Brooklyn for more than 20 years, and would be able to produce several million gallons yearly. In the past their production of Virginia Dare, with its base as scuppernon, has been more than a million cases a year, the largest of any similar product in this country. The Garrett company, as wine makers, has been in existence for more than a hundred years. It has passed down from the originator to the third generation. Paul Garrett, its president today, has been its actual head for 58 years. The company originated in North Carolina in 1835. Later, in 1902, on account of prohibition laws, the company removed to Virginia, and there Virginia Dare wine was originated. Certain temperance laws in Virginia caused a removal of the company to Brooklyn in 1915. "We have decided to come into Atlanta," said Mr. Garrett, "because the opportunity is ripe here for the Georgia farmer to make real money on a grape crop. Americans have grown more and more to be wine drinkers. In the past few years the consumption of wine in California, for instance, has increased from a half-gallon per capita annually to five gallons. In the state of Washington, because they could get good wine from California, it has greatly increased and is now about three gallons per capita.

Praises State Law.

"The agricultural department of the state is co-operating nicely with us, but as much as we would have liked to come into Georgia in the past, so long as California was furnishing the state with fortified wines from grapes costing $3 to $10 per ton, there was no sound hope of successfully conducting a business here, where the product would cost us from $30 to $100 per ton. The Georgia wine law has changed this and made our entrance here possible.

"Of course, it will take about three years to begin gathering a money crop from grapes, just about the same as peaches, but peaches play out in 10 to 15 years, while we have figures showing that crops are still gathered from scuppernon vines that have been bearing 350 years.

"In 1910 California had 270,000 acres in grapes, 200,000 in table and raisin grapes and 70,000 in wine grapes. This would produce about 50,000,000 gallons of wine. Beginning with 1910, and five years following, during the height of the prohibition agitation, 500,000 additional acres of grapes were added in California. These were sold for home wine making in eastern centers, brought fabulous prices and produced more than 200,000,000 gallons of wine by private parties for home consumption.

3,000,000 Acres.

"California is now on a program of 2,000,000 additional acres in grapes, which will give that state a total of nearly 3,000,000 acres. Georgia, on the other hand, with a soil and climate just as well adapted to the growth of fine grapes as California, has less than 250 acres in grapes, producing not over 750 tons for all purposes. Yet there are considerably over 2,000,000 acres now in Georgia lying idle, ready for the production of grapes, for which there is a market at from three to five times the price paid for California grapes."

Mr. Garrett states that, while his company would use a great quantity of grapes each year, increasing each year, he recognizes that once his business is successful, numerous competitors will come into Georgia. That, of necessity, he says, will make a continued high market even if the state produced, as does California, several million tons annually. The present demands of his company, he says, call for 25,000 tons annually, much of which they get out west, though they control 3,000 acres in North Carolina and California.

"We hope the establishment of our winery in Atlanta," continued Mr.

Garrett, "will encourage the farmers of Georgia to grow grapes. Numerous instances can be cited where 10 tons of scuppernons have been gathered from one acre. However, we never urge an expectancy of more than three tons average per acre, which average is universal the world over for wine grapes. The best quality of wine grapes grow in this soil and produce the quality desirable in a fine wine.

"The coastal region of Georgia is adapted fine for scuppernons, the muscadine variety of which is the most generally known and appreciated, while the soil of the hillsides is peculiarly adapted to such varieties as the Norton, the Ives, Cynthiana, 100ella, Catawba, Delaware and some 200 other varieties proven worth in making fine wines.

"White Collar" Job.

"While grape-growing, especially of the scuppernon variety, is a 'white-collar' worker's avocation, as it requires a minimum of labor to produce profitable returns, wine making by the grower is an artistic avocation. It gives him a pleasant occupation during eight or nine months, with only three to four months required to care for his vineyard.

"The conversion of grapes into wine, as is the common practice in Europe, will yield a handsome return to a successful vintner who converts his crop into wine. Under the Georgia law the owner of a 25-acre vineyard ought to receive a gross income of from $10,000 to $20,000 a year."

low me and everything went black. I clung to the life preserver with both hands and I felt it lifting me to the surface. It rose very rapidly, as I came up, I heard voices crying "swim to shore."

Melby and his fellow survivors were of little help to investigators who sought the cause of the wreck tonight. It was easy to explain the sudden plunge, for the barge was loaded with 2,500 tons of gravel but clues to a leak which apparently occurred, were scanty.

One Explanation.

Only one explanation was offered: The barge might have been pitched on a sand bar at that part of the lake by the wind whipped waves. But the boat's first mate, John M. Johnson, said he felt no such shock.

Discovery of the log of Captain Charles D. Brown, Port Huron, Mich.—found by two boys along the south Chicago shore while coast guardsmen grappled the lake waters in vain for the bodies of the missing—only served to heighten the puzzle.

The last entry was dated 12:59 a. m., a half hour before the wreck. It said the barge, bound from Lockport, Ill., on the Chicago river to south Chicago, was approaching the south Chicago light and all was well.

Evidence of an unsuspected leak in the boat came from an assistant engineer, Joseph Weber, Sturgeon Bay, Wis. He said he saw two feet of water rising on the engine room floor and ran to tell the chief engineer just as the barge went down.

No Bodies Recovered.

None of the missing bodies had been recovered tonight, despite a full day's patrol by the coast guardsmen. It was decided to send divers down into the craft—it lay in 25 feet of water—to hunt bodies there, but a north-west wind ruffled the water too much to try it today.

At least four investigations—federal, city, county and shipowners—were under way. In addition to First Mate Johnson, Melby, and Weber, survivors were Halger Hansen, wheelman, of Lockport, Ill., the point of origin of the barge's fatal trip; Joe Change, third assistant engineer, South Chicago; Elton A. Washburn, handyman, Sturgeon Bay, Wis., and Herbert Larson, Chicago, a scrapperman.

Those who went down with the boat along with Captain Brown, were: Melvin Tufts, second mate, Lockport; John Melby, wheelman (father of Al), Chicago; Fred Samuelson, watchman, Chicago; Elmer Dezer, deck hand, Chicago; Carl Brown, deck hand, Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.; Tony Casity, steward, Lockport; Joe Oberlin, second cook, Lockport; Odin Johnson, chief engineer, Lemont, Ill.; Elmer Bergsland, boom man, Lockport; Leif Olson, scrapper man, Chicago; Charles Begette, oiler, Chicago; Dar Hansen, oiler, Sturgeon Bay, Wis.; Harry Meyers, oiler, Lockport, and "Mickey," a new member of the crew.

see and Mississippi. Maybe he will tell you he cut down the rates in those three states, but if he does you tell him he did not give his own state a fair deal because he cut them more in Tennessee, Alabama and Mississippi than he did in Georgia.

"You are going to get a further reduction in Georgia but it is a reduction you should have received a long time ago. He just waited until campaign time in order that he might get some votes out of it."

Ridicule also met the charge of the Governor that he, Senator Russell, was responsible for the action of the Federal Bureau of Public Roads in holding up the state's highway money for a long time.

"In one breath he tells you I have no power in Washington and in another he tells you that Dick Russell held up the federal highway money," the senator declared, as his crowd applauded. "Well, he does not give me credit for holding it up until the start of his campaign and then turning loose $17,000,000 for him to play politics in Georgia. I did not hold up the money. I would not have held it up if I could. I am more anxious to get the roads we so sadly need in Georgia than I am to get votes. He is using that money to trade for votes and the people won't be fooled."

Senator Russell spoke for more than an hour, although his speech was not marked by dramatics he held his crowd well and it was easy to see that practically all of his audience was convinced with his logic.

"There can be no answer to that speech," one farmer remarked. "I wish it could have gone on the radio. I wish we had money enough up here to pay for the broadcasting of it."

Record on Bonus. Senator Russell discussed fully his record on the bonus question. "There are 88,000 veterans in Georgia and every one of them has been watching the activities of our senators and congressmen on the bonus," the senator said. "You don't have to take my word for my votes on the bonus. You don't even have to believe the Congressional Record. Ask any veteran and he will tell you that every time the matter came up, for a vote Dick Russell voted for it."

Senator Russell spoke during a recess of the Haralson superior court which Judge James H. Hutcheson ordered to permit those in attendance at (take steps to provide for a permanent home for Mildred.

Finding Home Easy.

"I expect 50 or 100 persons will try to adopt Mildred before the week is up," said Judge Watkins.

Finding a home for the child will not be difficult. There are hundreds of childless families in this city who would be overjoyed to have Mildred as a foster daughter.

For instance, a couple telephoned Judge Watkins even before he had breakfast yesterday morning. They were friends of the judge.

"My husband and I have been to see Mildred at the receiving home this morning," the wife said. "We love her already and we want to adopt her." Judge Watkins said they have an exceptionally nice home and are of good families.

Applicants who want to adopt Mildred will be investigated by juvenile court authorities and the best home for her will be selected, in case her grandparents are not located.

In Hands of Judge.

Judge Watkins can allow her adoption even if Mildred's family is found, if it is deemed best for the child.

The little girl's mother is dead and her father "just went away." Mildred said. Her aunt Bertie and her grandmother and grandfather are apparently her only kin.

Mildred played happily at the receiving home yesterday, unworried at being abandoned in a big city. Her future has brightened considerably since so many Atlantans have offered her home and love. One woman told Judge Watkins she has an 8-year-old daughter of her own but would be glad to have Mildred also. She has love enough for Mildred, too.

Clouds in this small child's life, which threatened stark tragedy, are rolling away since she captured the hearts of so many, simply by being a bright, pretty little girl.

Youth Saves Comrade From Chattanooga

Paddling to the rescue in a small boat, an Atlanta youth who could not swim brought ashore a companion who was drowning in the Chattanooga river, near the Gordon road bridge, at about 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

According to police reports, Harold Simonton, 23, of 875 White street, S. W., a fair swimmer, and Paul Brewer, 24, of 1137 Oak street, who cannot swim, had gone to the river for an outing, placing set lines for fishing.

When one of the lines became tangled, Simonton swam out. He was soon in difficulty, however, being caught in twisted limbs and other water weeds. He cried for help and Brewer jumped into the water. Simonton waved him back, aware his friend could not swim.

Under water, in a small boat, paddled out to midstream, where Simonton had gone down several times in 12 to 15 feet of water. Simonton's head was several inches under water when Brewer pulled alongside. He grasped him by the hair, held his head above water and paddled into shore. He then sought help.

Simonton was partially revived by Patrolmen E. G. Fitzgerald and J. V. Davis, of Fulton county police, and then taken to Grady hospital.

COMPANY RENTS SITE FOR BIG WINERY HERE

es, berries, and such grapes as can be supplied.

Stokes Active in Deal.

Instrumental in bringing this nationally known concern to Georgia was D. L. Stokes, of D. L. Stokes & Co., Inc., who advocated passage of Georgia's new wine law by the last legislature. Mr. Stokes recognized the opportunity afforded Georgia farmers in grape and berry culture for wine-making and has been in touch with the winery concern.

Garrett & Co. was represented in the transaction by Mr. Stokes, and the Associated Companies, Inc., lessors, by Jesse Draper, president of Draper-Owens Co.

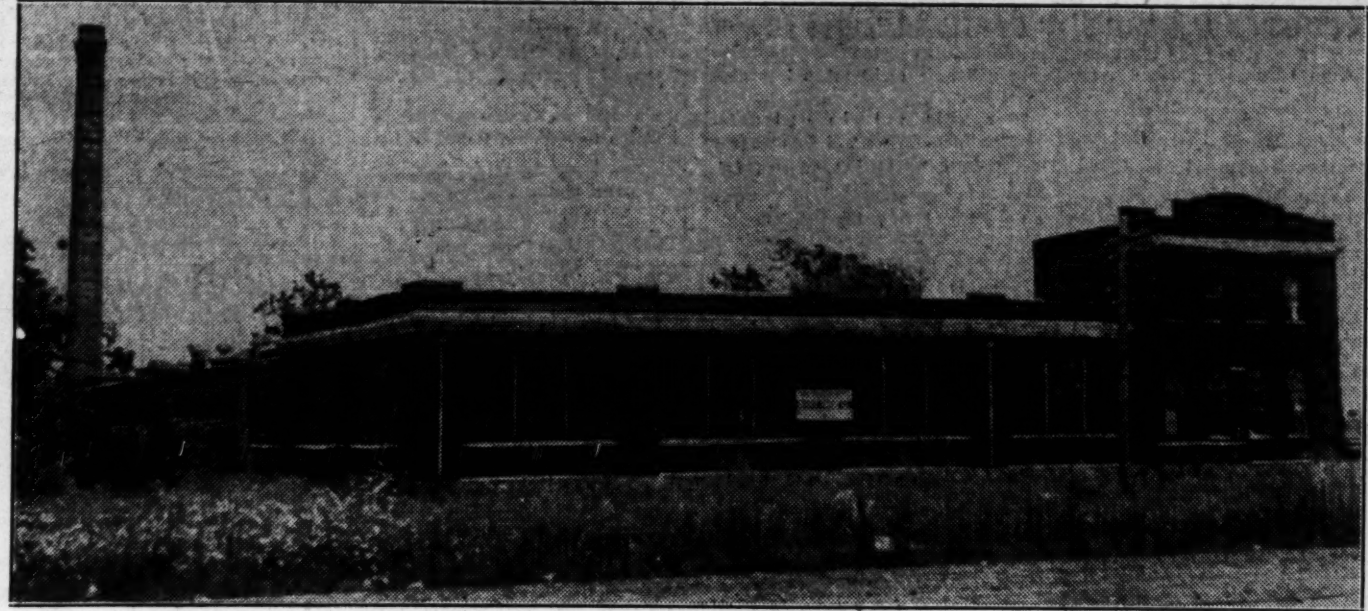

"You have an anomalous situation here in Georgia," said Mr. Garrett, "you have the finest and best wine law in the land, and yet you have no products from which to make wine—that is, no grape products, which is the recognized popular product for wine. Until about two years ago no other wine was recognized."

Major Plant.

Mr. Garrett further said the Atlanta plant was destined to be the major activity of his big company which has been operating in Brooklyn for more than 20 years, and would be able to produce several million gallons yearly. In the past their production of Virginia Dare, with its base on scuppernon, has been more than a million cases a year, the largest of any similar product in this country.

The Garrett company, as wine makers, has been in existence for more than a hundred years. It has passed down from the originator to the third generation. Paul Garrett, its president today, has been its actual head for 28 years. The company originated in North Carolina in 1835. Later, in 1902, on account of prohibition laws, the company removed to Virginia, and there Virginia Dare wine was originated. Certain temperance laws in Virginia caused a removal of the company to Brooklyn in 1915.

"We have decided to come into Atlanta," said Mr. Garrett, "because the opportunity is ripe here for the Georgia farmer to make real money on a grape crop. Americans have grown more and more to wine drinkers. In the past few years the consumption of wine in California, for instance, has increased from a half-gallon per capita annually to five gallons. In the state of Washington, because they could get good wine from California, it has greatly increased and is now about three gallons per capita.

Praises State Law.

"The agricultural department of the state is co-operating nicely with us, but as much as we would have liked to come into Georgia in the past, so long as California was furnishing the state with fortified wines from grapes

15 years, while we have figures showing that crops are still gathered from scuppernon vines that have been bearing 350 years.

"In 1919, California had 270,000 acres in grapes, 200,000 in table and raisin grapes and 70,000 in wine grapes. This would produce about 50,000,000 gallons of wine. Beginning with 1919, and five years following, during the height of the prohibition agitation, 500,000 additional acres of grapes were added in California. These were sold for home wine making in eastern centers, brought fabulous prices and produced more than 200,000,000 gallons of wine by private parties for home consumption.

3,000,000 Acres.

"California is now on a program of 2,000,000 additional acres in grapes, which will give that state a total of nearly 3,000,000 acres. Georgia, on the other hand, with a soil and climate just as well adapted to the growth of fine grapes as California, has less than 250 acres in grapes, producing not over 750 tons for all purposes. Yet there are considerably over 2,000,000 acres now in Georgia lying idle, ready for the production of grapes, for which there is a market at from three to five times the price paid for California grapes."

Mr. Garrett states that, while his company would use a great quantity of grapes each year, increasing each year, he recognizes that once his business is successful, numerous competitors will come into Georgia. Then, of necessity, he says, will make a continued high market even if the state produced, as does California, several million tons annually. The present demands of his company, he says, call for 25,000 tons annually, much of which they get out west, though they control 5,000 acres in North Carolina and California.

"We hope the establishment of our winery in Atlanta," continued Mr.

Garrett, "will encourage the farmers of Georgia to grow grapes. Numerous instances can be cited where 10 tons of scuppernons have been gathered from one acre. However, we never urge an expectancy of more than three tons average per acre, which average is universal the world over for wine grapes. The best quality of wine grapes grow in this soil and produce the quality desirable in a fine wine.

"The coastal region of Georgia is adapted fine for scuppernons, the muscadine variety of which is the most generally known and appreciated, while the soil of the hillsides is peculiarly adapted to such varieties as the Norton, the Ives, Cynthiana, Isabella, Catawba, Delaware and some 200 other varieties of proven worth in making fine wines.

"White Collar" Job.

"While grape-growing, especially of the scuppernon variety, is a 'white-collar' worker's avocation, as it requires a minimum of labor to produce profitable returns, wine making by the grower is an artistic avocation. It gives him a pleasant occupation during eight or nine months, with only three to four months required to care for his vineyard.

"The conversion of grapes into wine, as is the common practice in Europe, will yield a handsome return to a successful vintner who converts his crop into wine. Under the Georgia law the owner of a 25-acre vineyard ought to receive a gross income of from $10,000 to $20,000 a year."

WEISS REQUESTED TO CHANGE STORY*He Testifies Before Federal Jury in Paul Wendel Kidnaping.

NEWARK, N. J., July 29.—(P)—An attempt to induce Harry Weiss to change his story, which resulted in five New York indictments in the Paul H. Wendel case, was reported by a reliable source today as Weiss testified before a federal grand jury in Newark.

Wendel, a former Trenton lawyer, charged he was kidnaped and tortured into confessing falsely the Lindbergh baby abduction. Ellis Parker, St. Burlington county detective chief, and his son, Ellis Jr., are among those indicted in New York.

Governor Harold G. Hoffman, who had refused to extradite the elder Parker, announced today he would hold a public hearing on New York's request for the extradition.

Weiss, a reliable source said, was approached in New York. The source said Weiss knew the persons who approached him and that they would probably be called before the grand jury.

United States Attorney John J. Quinn, who is interrogating witnesses for the jury, declined to comment on these reports.

Weiss went before the jury today and was reported to have told substantially the same story he told in New York.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., July 29.—(P)—The renewed hope for the missing British motorship Nunoca lessened tonight when two coast guard cutters reported by radio they were abandoning the search of the gulf at Campeche.

The vessels sped to the gulf in the vicinity of Arcos and the Triangle islands yesterday when a Mexican ship captain told them the vessel was "lost there."

Late today the coast guard craft, the Vigilant and the Yeaton, reported they had searched the area indicated without result. They said they were "abandoning search" and returning to their bases at sundown.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—(P)—The Works Progress Administration rejected a proposal by Senator Russell, Georgia democrat, today to provide relief to drouth-stricken farmers through an extension of Civilian Conservation Corps activities.

WPA officials said they had no authority to provide money for new camps and greater enrollment in CCC camps. CCC officials referred Russell's letter to the WPA, explaining funds appropriated by congress for the conservation camps would not permit any greater activities.

About 65 Atlanta girls will compete for the title, "Miss Atlanta of 1936," the Paramount theater management announced after registration for the contest had closed at 9:30 o'clock last night.

The contest is sponsored by the theater and the management of Lakewood park. The winner will be sent to Atlantic City to compete for the coveted "Miss America" title.

Preliminaries to selection of "Miss Atlanta" will be held at the theater tomorrow and Saturday nights. Review of the girls, by judges and audience, will start at 9 o'clock each night. Finals will be held at Lakewood park at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

An elaborate stage and boardwalk, upon which the contestants will parade, has been built at the park, Mike Benton, president of the Southeastern Fair, announced yesterday.

IN AMERICAN BUSINESS*Gain in Profits Reported
For First Half of Year.

NEW YORK, July 29.—(P)—The busy trip-hammers of heavy industries, shaping metals to a thousand uses in America's plants and factories at the same time were pounding out increasing heaps of dollars for shareholders in the first half of 1936, a survey today showed.

With 155 corporations revealing the contents of their account books to date, including many of the largest in the country, the widest gains over the initial six months last year are being shown by those concerns which manufacture primarily to supply materials and machinery for other industries, or durable goods such as homes and factories.

Where the Associated Press compilation of the 155 total indicated a gain in profits for the half-year of 61 per cent over the same 1935 period, the steel industry, for example, with 10 reporting companies registered an aggregate profit gain of 445 per cent.

Dollar-wise the improvement is moderate, with the total $4,436,970 ahead of last year, but the percentage change serves to emphasize the sharp reversal of the situation from a time when many concerns were showing losses.

Building equipment companies, of which seven have reported, had a dollar profit increase of approximately the same amount as the steels. In percentages the lift was less, 109 per cent, but still good enough to give this division second place in the rise.

Automobiles, more rapidly worn out by consumers, have been the outstanding profit-makers in terms of dollars, with a margin of over $100,000,000 above the year before. On a percentage basis, however, their rank is fifth with a 71 per cent rise for the three concerns reporting, which included two first-rank producers.

Chemicals, principally consumed in the manufacture of other articles, were well up in the list with profits for eight companies more than $36,733,993 or 87 per cent ahead.

Oils with nine revealing results to date, were a line in which consumer demand played a predominant role, where the profits improvement was sharply contrasted with the 1935 months. This division showed profits 92 per cent better for a gain of $18,918,949.

The complete list, arranged in order of per cent of earnings betterment follows:

Ten steels, $4,436,970 or 445 per cent; seven building equipments, $4,690,733 or 109 per cent; nine oils, $16,918,949 or 87 per cent; eight chemicals, $36,733,993 or 87 per cent; three automobile manufacturers, $108,400,788 or 71 per cent; eight food concerns $12,176,609 or 48 per cent; 19 motor accessories, $11,292,907 or 43 per cent; 91 miscellaneous, $67,826,194 or 31 per cent; total, 155 companies, $262,497,143 or 61 per cent.

ORANBURG, S. C., July 29.—(P)—Ewing Davidson, 65, of Charleston, assistant general freight agent of the Atlantic Coast Line railroad, died here today of a heart attack.

Davidson was stricken at the passenger station of the A. C. L. here and died before he could be taken to a hospital.

The body will be sent tomorrow to Richmond, Va., for the funeral and burial.

Davidson was riding over the railroad's territory with a group of railroad officials.

His widow and a daughter, both of Charleston, survive.

SHARE-CROPPER ISSUE
SAID PURELY ECONOMIC*AAA Chief Asserts Better
Relations Depend on Stable Income.

JACKSON, Tenn., July 29.—(P)—H. R. Tolley, national agricultural adjustment administrator, said today in discussing share-croppers in the south that "unless the income for southern agriculture as a whole is stable and adequate the result will be fewer landlords and more tenants."

Tolley spoke at the West Tennessee Farmers' Institute, held here in the state's cotton-producing section. He said "the real problem of southern agriculture is lack of adequate income for producers" and "any attempt to solve any of our troublesome questions must recognize that fact."

Better Relations.
"Some persons who are concerned over the tenant problem sincerely believe it is the solution of that issue depends upon better relations between landlord and tenant," Tolley continued. "All of us hope for better relations."

"Every fair-minded man wants the share-cropper to have scrupulous justice. But unless the income for southern agriculture as a whole is stable and adequate the result will be fewer landlords and more tenants. Too many of our economic diagnosticians believe that the symptoms are the disease itself."

Tolley said that despite the dislike of some persons for the word "planning" there will be "natural programs for agriculture for a good many years to come."

Exports Necessary.
He said that planning for southern agriculture "should include the sale abroad year in and year out of a reasonable quantity of cotton." He defended the AAA against charges that it had hurt America's cotton market abroad and said that 3,000,000 bales of the 4,000,000-bale increase of foreign production since 1932 "occurred between the 1932-33 and 1933-34 seasons."

"This was before the AAA program adopted in the summer of 1933 was announced," he declared. He blamed "the real danger to our exports of cotton" on "the economic warfare set in motion by the Smoot-Hawley tariff" lack of dollar exchange and the "strangling" effect of "quotas and other trade barriers."

OF POOL ANNOUNCED*$56,000,000 Returned Treasury
in Last Six Months, Wallace Says.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—(P)—Secretary Wallace said today the cotton pool had been completely liquidated, returning to the national treasury a total of $56,000,000 during the last six months.

"It might be interesting to note," he said at a press conference on drouth damage, "that the cotton pool finally was liquidated today. The Commodity Credit Corporation still has about 3,000,000 bales. During the last six months we have put $56,000,000 into the treasury as a result of the liquidation of the cotton pool."

He estimated the amount of cotton liquidated at 600,000 bales in spots and 1,000,000 bales in futures. The cotton, he said, originally had been obtained at an average of 6 cents a pound and after figuring in several financing measures had been "worked out" at around 12 cents.

Asked how much had been lost on the deal, Wallace countered with a smiling reply that the government would "come out with no great loss or gain."

The cotton carryover, he added, was the only remaining surplus supply of major farm crops. He described the tobacco carryover as "workable."

Because of the drouth, Wallace explained, much cotton was not planted this season and large areas of tobacco did not grow.

15 MORE ARABS KILLED.
JERUSALEM, July 29.—(Jewish Telegraphic Agency).—Fifteen Arabs were killed today in a battle with British troops near Jenin, raising the death toll to 37 in two days of engagements between soldiers and desert warriors.ALA. POLITICAL LEAGUE
TURNS TO REPUBLICANS

SILVERHILL, Ala., July 29.—(P)—All officers of the Baldwin County League of Young Democrats today had gone over to the republican banner.

Secretary Frank Vorel announced his resignation today and said that President Albert Koehler and Vice President John Bowman, both of Elberta, had also resigned. The league had a small membership and was active in only a portion of the county.

The three gave as the reason for their political change the statement, "Roosevelt is spending too much." Baldwin county normally polls around 800 republican votes in a total county vote of 3,500.

G-MEN AID IN SEARCH FOR CO-ED'S SLAYER

Two Asheville Detectives Submit Mysterious Bundle to Bureau.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., July 29.—(UP)—Aid from the G-men's laboratories of the Department of Justice in Washington was sought tonight by two Asheville detectives, Robert Patton and James Dayton, seeking to solve the 13-day-old slaying of pretty Helen Cleveland, New York University co-ed.

The pair left today for the nation's capital with a mysterious bundle which was believed to contain specimens picked up in the hotel room where Miss Cleveland was ravished and slain on July 16.

It was understood that several angles of the case were puzzling local authorities and that they wanted the analysis by government experts to aid them. What this analysis would include was not disclosed.

In Washington, officials of the Federal Bureau of Investigation were equally reticent in commenting. Meanwhile Sheriff Laurence Brown stubbornly predicted that he would solve the mystery although, he admitted, "it may take a long time."

Brown disclosed that H. G. Richardson, Charlotte, N. C., a guest in the fashionable Battery Park hotel on the night of the slaying, had told him of seeing a stranger standing in front of a room on his floor. The room in front of which the stranger was standing was directly above that of Miss Cleveland.

WHO KILLED CROWN PRINCE RUDOLF?

All of the hopes of Franz Josef, when emperor of Austria-Hungary, were centered in his only son, the Crown Prince Rudolf. This promising young man was married to the Princess Stephanie, daughter of Leopold II, king of the Belgians, but the union was unhappy. Rudolf was of a lively disposition, carefree, dashing and fond of adventure, while his wife was moody, sullen and jealous. Thus were supplied two points of the "eternal triangle." The woman in the case was the beautiful young baroness, Marie Vetsera.

For some time Princess Stephanie had wished a divorce, and Rudolf was willing to supply her with all of the legal grounds that she needed, but his stern father, the emperor, forbade such procedure. Rudolf, like his cousin, the Grand Duke Johann Salvator, offered to relinquish all of his honors for the woman he loved—to give up his rights to the throne if he could but wed Marie Vetsera.

Rudolf arranged a gay house party late in January, 1889. The scene was the castle of Mayerling, 12 miles from Vienna. His beloved Marie was one of the guests. On the morning of January 30 one of Rudolf's servants entered his bedroom and beheld a scene which turned his blood cold. Before him the sole heir to the throne of Austria-Hungary lay dead. At first it was given out that the young crown prince during the night had died of apoplexy, but as he was only 30 and possessed of a magnificent physique, this story was not credited by medical men and the suspicion became broadcast that the public was being deceived by the court bulletins.

Later there was issued an announcement that Rudolf had committed suicide, and great excitement resulted. But a third shock was in store for the subjects of Franz Josef. There gradually leaked out the fact that the corpse of Baroness Marie Vetsera had been found with that of the crown prince.

Then followed a long list of conflicting theories as to the cause of the Mayerling tragedy. According to one story Rudolf, during the gay house party at the castle, had told the baroness of his father's refusal to allow his divorce, and that she, unwilling to live without him, had killed herself. Some say that she left a note beseeching him to follow her into eternity, and that upon finding this she had covered her corpse with a pile of flowers, had lain upon the floor beside her couch and blown out his brains with an army pistol.

According to a further theory the lovers, as soon as they discovered their marriage was hopeless, had entered upon a suicide pact, that Rudolf agreed to shoot the baroness between the shoulder blades and that he left a note explaining that he had placed the bullet where it "would not mar her beauty."

It was asserted in some quarters that Marie had a fiancé whom she had promised to jilt for Rudolf, that this nobleman was present at the house party, that Rudolf in a fit of jealousy over her attentions to his rival had shot her, that her other lover had brained him with a chair, and that the crown prince's servants had later killed his slayer.

There was another story that Marie herself had shot Rudolf and had then taken poison. And it was further related that the crown prince while hunting had been shot by a peasant whom he had once subjected to cruelty, whereupon the Baroness Marie, upon seeing his corpse brought back to the castle, had committed suicide from grief.

Some time after the tragedy a New York paper published evidence purporting to prove that Rudolf and his beloved Marie were living in voluntary exile in America under assumed names, and other papers have from time to time hinted that the story of the Mayerling tragedy had been a hoax designed to cover up a scandal and enable him to lose himself in foreign lands. Several times it was reported that Rudolf had been seen in various parts of America. An authoritative encyclopedia records its skepticism of the official account of his death by stating he was "believed" to have taken his own life.

After Rudolf's mysterious death the right of succession to the throne of Austria-Hungary fell to the emperor's brother, Charles Louis. But, sharing the proverbial "Hapsburg luck," so long a synonym for tragedy, the latter died, leaving the succession to his son, Archduke Francis Ferdinand.

Indeed, throughout his long reign Franz Josef has been a man of sorrows.

Shortly after his coronation had come his unhappy marriage with the Princess Elizabeth of Bavaria, their mysterious quarrel, her flight and their eight years of separation; then the execution of Franz Josef's brother, the Emperor Maximilian, of Mexico, and on top of the terrible Mayerling tragedy came the mysterious disappearance of Franz Josef's nephew, Grand Duke Johann Salvator; the disgrace and banishment of the emperor's sole surviving brother, Louis Victor; the murder of Franz Josef's consort, the Empress Elizabeth, at Geneva, and finally the assassination of the heir to the throne, the Archduke Francis Ferdinand and the latter's morganatic wife, in June, 1914—that crime which precipitated the World War.

Probably the truth that has lain hidden behind the Mayerling tragedy for nearly 50 years will never be uncovered. The world knows as little about it today as it did upon the morning of its occurrence.

School Board Candidate

MRS. D. R. LONGINO.

MRS. LONGINO ASKS ELECTION TO BOARD

Incumbent Qualifies for Nomination to School Post From Sixth Ward.

Mrs. D. R. Longino, incumbent member of the city board of education from the 13th ward, yesterday qualified for re-election to that body from the new sixth ward, subject to the September 2 democratic white primary.

Mrs. Longino, who is a former president of the Atlanta Parent-Teacher Association, said, in a formal statement:

"I submit my name for election to the place of school board member to represent the newly-created sixth ward on the board of education."

"The sixth ward is the combined present ninth and thirteenth wards."

"Since December, 1935, I have represented the 13th ward on the board of education—filling the place vacated by a resignation. During this time I have attended every meeting of the committees of which I was a member and every regular and called meeting of the board except one. I have visited the schools to become familiar with their needs and their problems."

"If elected I will lend my support to the board of education in every effort to give to the children of Atlanta the best educational advantages possible with the funds available, to live within its budget, and to give fair treatment to all employees."

LINDY TRIES GLIDER, PLANS TO SEE HITLER

BERLIN, July 29.—(P)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, who may see Adolf Hitler tomorrow, tried his hand at gliding today.

"I enjoyed it hugely," said the flyer, after a sailplane had been placed at his disposal during a visit to the government school for gliders at Rhinow, northwest of Berlin.

The long-awaited meeting between the American visitor and the reichsfuehrer and chancellor, set originally for tomorrow, remained uncertain. Lindbergh planned to go to Dessau in the forenoon and it was not known whether a luncheon could be arranged on the same day for both men.

Lindbergh was tempted aloft after he watched rapidly while a German student learned to pilot the motorless ship.

Neither employees, students nor officials would divulge how long the Flying Colonel stayed up. They declined also to comment on how well he handled the glider.

RFC MAY PURCHASE FARM BODY BONDS

Public Fails To Take Up Entire $150,000,000 CCC Issue.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—(P)—Reconstruction Corporation officials today considered buying an unsubscribed portion of a $150,000,000 note issue offered to the investing public two weeks ago by the Commodity Credit Corporation.

The notes, to mature in six months at one-half of one per cent interest, are backed by cotton and grain in warehouses acquired by the corporation as collateral for its loan to farmers.

If the RFC should take over the unsold remainder of the notes, its action would constitute, in effect, a resumption of normal financing for the Commodity Credit Corporation, which, in the past has drawn its funds from the RFC.

The offer of a loan to the investing public marked a departure in its methods. Beyond confirming that the entire issue had not been sold, officials today declined to comment.

The episode recalled an unsuccessful effort two years ago to market a $100,000,000 issue of Farm Credit Administration bonds. The public responded to the extent of about $85,000,000 and the treasury finally took the rest.

The FCA bonds bore the full guarantee of the government both as to principal and interest. The Commodity Credit Corporation notes, however, carry no guarantee except in so far as one may be implied in that the Credit Corporation is an agency of the government.

WE'LL MEET AGAIN

By MARGARET GORMAN NICHOLS

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE: Mrs. Diana Van Avery, prominent in New York society, has two daughters, red-headed, blue-eyed Gay, engaged to Alan Ridge, and the old Patil, peevish and selfish, who is to marry Richard Miles, of Washington. The day Patil and Richard sail for Europe on their honeymoon, Mrs. Van Avery tells Gay it took almost their last dollar to give Patil a fitting wedding. Since the death of her husband Stephen, Diana has depended upon Gay, and Diana recalls now that Stephen had assured Gay and Alan they need not worry about money. A week later he was dead and his inherited estate turned out to be worthless. Alan, handsome, popular but without means, had followed the wealthy Lucia Baring from Florida to propose to her but felt in love with Gay at first sight. Gay is very much in love and is deeply hurt when Alan tells her he cannot bring himself to ask her to share his poverty. "It would be easier if you hated me," she tells him. When she phones the news of the broken engagement, Chris Mallory's editor sends him to learn the reason. She is hurt with Chris who replies, "Why don't you stop lying?" and goes out slamming the door. Diana and Gay move to a small apartment and Gay finds Chris is her neighbor. He apologizes for his conduct earlier, she gets a job as a fashion artist, she gets a job as a model with Marchand, from whom the Van Averages formerly bought their clothes. Chris, unable to get Gay out of his mind, goes to Marchand's. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

INSTALLMENT VII.

"Are you sure you won't go? You're invited." "The tea room hostess is much too tired for dancing." Chris knocked and came in wearing his hired full dress outfit. "How do I look?" he asked. "I feel stuffed. How do guys get into these things every night?" Gay asked cheerfully. "You're not going to wear that terrible looking hat, Chris?" "It's the only one I have. I'll park it and no one will see it." He turned to Diana. "May Sandy spend the night with you?" he asked. The Scotch lass was frowning at his feet as he spoke. "Of course, Chris. Sandy and Macduff are fine friends now and won't be any trouble." Chris looked at Gay, standing by the table. So much scented loveliness, he thought, but not for him. The gold dress and her hair were again. He thought, "She is rather like a princess, and I, a nobody, love her. Princess and pauper. I haven't looked at another girl since I've known her. She comes between me and everything I do, and everywhere I go I find myself looking for her." "I'm ready," said Gay. "Ready? Ready for more humiliation, she thought. Ready to see Alan look at Lucia as he used to look at her. Alan..." In the cab, with his old brown hat pulled over one eye, Chris said, to take the strained look from her face. "I'm writing a play. All newspapermen do." "What's it about?" And she knew he was making conversation to take that bleak look from her eyes. "It's about you." "About me?" She gave a short, broken laugh. "Oh, about a girl turned out into the cold cruel world, spurned and hated?" Gently she put her white gloved hand over his. "How does it end, Chris? What happens to her?" He looked at her some time before he spoke. His mouth twisted into a wry smile. "Oh," he said finally, shrugging, "it ends neatly. A miracle happens and she gets back the man and the money." "You want it to end that way?" "Sure! Why not? That's the way you want it to end." "I guess... I do. But I'll be waiting for the miracle to happen. Don't put it away and forget it, Chris. It'll be a good play. So much realism." "It isn't," he said, frowning, "a good play at all. It's rotten, if you ask me." "Here we are." "Keep your chin up," said Chris, "and look for me if I get lost. I'm not used to big places to wander around in." "I appreciate your coming with me." "Forget it." He grinned. "Do I look okay?" "Gay smiled. "Okay, Chris." Lucia Baring gave parties on a magnificent scale. In the great ballroom, a panorama of moving colors, were two famous orchestras. At the bar and in the cocktail room five bartenders mixed drinks which eager hands took up. "Looks like a convention," said Chris. "Let's dance." She put her arm around him and pulled her mouth into a courageous smile that said, "Well, here I am. Look at me. Here I am with the best friend I ever had. He's a new friend but he'd never let me down." When she saw Alan over many many dancing heads, Alan, standing by the window, her heart gave a queer jerk. She hated her eyes for softening toward him, for loving him still, for wanting him still. "I have tried," she thought, "to walk on my love, to crush it, and kill it. But in my heart I know I am not free of it." Alan, when they were close to Alan, she smiled gently. "I'd like to dance with you, Gay."

Alan and Gay? They're dancing together. Lucia asked her noly out of pity. They say she goes nowhere. Of course, I've always said that Alan loved Gay. Poor Gay. She models clothes and they say she has taken up with the worst people!" "Mingled with the music was Alan's voice. "Gay, I'm sorry about that day. We were both unstrung and worried. I've got to see you again. You don't stop loving someone because you've stopped seeing her." "I've got no right to see you. No right. There's Lucia..." "Who parades me about as if I were a prize pony. Let's get out of here. Let's go somewhere where we can talk."

MANNERS OF THE MOMENT

Never Show Signs of Worry When You're Stuck With a Dance Partner.

Never show signs of worry when you're stuck with a dance partner. It's a funny thing about some men. They seem to think that when they get stuck with a dance partner, they have to do is to look beseechingly at the stag line, and beckon one of their pals to come to their assistance. You'd think they'd learn after awhile that it doesn't work. Most girls are much smarter. When they get stuck, and wish to goodness someone would come along and cut out the big bore they're with, they don't look of animation, they chatter away, and they try to act as though they were having a wonderful time. This is both more polite and more expedient. It's pretty mean of men or girls to act as though the other were a hopeless dullard. What more, it's a dead give away to the stag line that things aren't as they should be. What's more, if you really try to have a good time with a bore, some times you do. You'd be surprised.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

LETTERS FROM OTHER LANDS. IV—More About Australia. Now we shall go on with the letter from Nance Keightly, 14-year-old girl, who lives in Flora Terrace, Prospect, South Australia:

"We are celebrating the Centenary of South Australia this year, and each month we have different events. In January the Australian tennis championship matches were held, and were won by Adrian Quist. Soon after this event, the opening of the Olympic games (trials) took place. A week before a relay race had started from Melbourne to Adelaide. There were about 20 runners, and each carried a lighted torch.

"In February a swimming carnival was held in Adelaide, and competitors came from all the states of Australia. Later in the year a flora pageant will be held, and prizes will be awarded for decorated motor cars, bicycles and floral floats.

"I am fond of reading, and my favorite authors are Mary Grant Bruce, L. M. Montgomery, and H. Rider Haggard. M. G. Bruce is an Australian authoress.

"I could keep on writing, but must stop. Wish your 'Corner' the best of success. I remain,

"Yours sincerely,

"NANCE KEIGHTLY."

South Australia is thousands of miles distant from us, but I think Nance's letter makes it seem closer. If we cannot travel that far, at least we can travel a little about the lives of people who live there.

HOLDUP BY MEXICANS DESCRIBED BY VICTIM

7 Carloads of American Tourists, Including N. C. Senator, Robbed.

MEXICO CITY, July 29.—(AP)—The holdup and robbery by Mexican bandits of seven carloads of United States tourists, among them Senator Robert Reynolds, of North Carolina, was described today by Campbell Jones, of Abilene, Texas.

The police holdup men took money, watches and jewelry from the Americans near Taxco, Guerrero, last night, Jones said when he came here.

He said he knew one of the victims was Reynolds because, "when someone, noticing the Texas centennial sticker on his automobile, said 'Hello, Texas', he leaned out of his car and replied: 'I am Senator Reynolds, of North Carolina'."

Jones, with his wife and daughter, Geraldine, and Miss Catherine Collier, of Ardmore, Okla., was traveling north toward Mexico City. The others, including Senator Reynolds, were going south.

"We came around a curve," Jones said, "to find three men aiming rifles directly at us. A little further on was a pile of rock blocking the way."

"The bandits were not abusive, only businesslike. They took $50 persons (about $30) from me, 15 from my daughter, my watch which my employees presented to me, and Miss Collier's wrist watch."

"They also took a pair of binoculars, but left the case."

While one bandit kept a rifle at his ribs, two others made him open suitcases, Jones said.

Senator Reynolds left Mexico City early yesterday morning, en route to Acapulco, it was said at the United States embassy.

Ford Will Observe 73rd Birthday At Lodge on Shore of Lake Superior

Interviewers Are Discouraged by Famous Detroit Auto Magnate.

BIG BAY, Mich., July 29.—(AP)—Following a custom he established a few years ago, Henry Ford will observe his birthday tomorrow at his lodge in the Huron Mountain Club, west and north of here on the rugged Lake Superior coast.

It will be Ford's 73rd birthday, but it will be a quiet one. He is in the annual vacation the industrialist allows himself at this season of the year. No celebration was planned and before he departs for Detroit on one of his 600-foot freighters for the leisurely trip up the lakes to the almost complete isolation of his Huron mountain lodge, Ford indicated he would spend the day as quietly as his surroundings made possible.

Accompanied by Mrs. Ford, the manufacturer arrived here today after an uneventful trip up the lakes. A high wind that swept the lake abated before the huge freighter rounded the Whitefish point into Lake Superior proper.

Ford at 73 looks as well as he did at 60 and apparently has lost none of the vitality and enthusiasm that has characterized his career since he assembled his first successful motor car in 1892 and fought scoffers and lawsuits without number to win success after he was 40 years old.

Ford discouraged interviewers who wanted to know "how it feels to be 73" and he recalled that just 10 years ago he voiced the suspicion that "some people call me 'The Old Man' behind my back."

"I have heard that for many years," Ford said. "They called me 'The Old Man' when I was with the Edison company, and I was only 30 years old then. So it may not mean much."

The noted industrialist apparently is actively practicing what he has preached to his acquaintances for years. "Keep interested and active and forget the years," long has been his philosophy. He still believes that "the secret of growing old without knowing it is to keep on working."

EDEN DEPRECATES RHINE REARMING

Briton Refers to Treaty Breaking as Only 'Minor Affront'

LONDON, July 29.—(AP)—In the interests of general European peace, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden hinted today Great Britain is willing to let pass without comment "minor affronts" such as German remilitarization of the Rhineland.

The question arose in commons incident to reports Germany had re-occupied Heligoland, small German island in the North sea, in violation of the treaty of Versailles.

Britain's anxiety, Eden made plain in replying to a question by Sir William Davidson, was to obtain a major peace instrument for all of Europe at the proposed five-power Locarno conference.

Overlooking of "minor affronts" will be part and parcel of the Anglo-French policy as agreed upon at the recent tri-power Locarno conversations here, it was authoritatively stated, while replies are awaited from Germany and Italy to the five-power parley invitations in September.

The Helgo land question was described in Downing street as a "peccadillo" and "one of the numerous small issues which have not been forgotten but which for the present must not be allowed to obstruct or impede the progress toward a major goal."

CATHOLICS MOURN DEATH OF PRIEST

Father Baker, "Padre of the Poor," Dies After Two-Year Illness.

LACKAWANNA, N. Y., July 29.—(AP)—Catholics of the state and nation tonight mourned the death of Father Baker, famed throughout the world as America's "Padre of the Poor" and one of the oldest Catholic priests in the United States.

The Right Rev. Monsignor Nelson H. Baker, known to Catholics and non-Catholics alike as Father Baker, died this morning after an illness of more than two years. He was in his ninety-sixth year, 60 of which were spent in the priesthood.

Founder of the Our Lady of Victory Institution here, Father Baker had devoted his entire life to the relief of the poor and suffering. His $25,000,000 institution, built entirely from popular subscriptions, was known as the "second holy city."

Born in Buffalo, February 16, 1841, Father Baker was educated at Niagara University and ordained to the priesthood on March 18, 1878. Served for 11 months in his first parish at Corning, N. Y., he had been ministering to the poor, the orphaned, and the needy at his shrine here.

FLOGGING VICTIM ASKS DAMAGES FROM TAMPA

TAMPA, Fla., July 29.—(AP)—Tampa's famed Flogging case, in which five former city policemen were convicted on a kidnap charge, moved into new court circles today when Eugene F. Poulton, one of the principal victims, filed preliminary papers in circuit court asking $100,000 for damages from the city of Tampa and from five convicted policemen.

While no declaration was filed today, J. M. Bryan, Poulton's attorney, said the basis of the suit would be false arrest and kidnapping. He said the city of Tampa was named because it was the technical employer of the police officers. They were: C. A. Brown Jr., F. W. Switzer, C. W. Carlisle, John F. Bridges and Sam E. Crosby.

Poulton, with S. F. Rogers and Joseph Shoemaker, were seized by the police in a raid on the night of November 30 and after being released at the police station were allegedly taken to an isolated spot where they were tarred, feathered and beaten.

NORRIS DAM POWER BECOMES REALITY

TVA Engineers Send Test Current to Sister Project at Muscle Shoals.

NORRIS, Tenn., July 29.—(AP)—Electric power from Norris dam was a reality today as Tennessee Valley Authority engineers continued sending test current to its sister dam at Muscle Shoals, 220 miles away.

The first power generated by impounded waters rushing from Lake Norris, flashed through to Wilson Dam last night.

"The test was very satisfactory," said Construction Superintendent F. C. Schlemmer.

Without ceremony, electricians turned power from one of the two 66,000-horsepower generators into the circuit and listened with satisfaction as Wilson Dam reported arrival of the current. The first test followed 36 hours of experimentation and adjustment of equipment.

Pouring through a 20-foot penstock, the water was converted into 13,800-horsepower and then stepped up to 154,000-horsepower before entering the transmission line.

No date has yet been fixed for the inauguration of commercial operation of the dam. Schlemmer said test runs will be continued for some time. The Aluminum Company of America—the first TVA industrial customer—will begin receiving power from the dam June 1, 1937, under terms of a contract recently signed.

RFC CHAIRMAN RESTING IN COAST HOSPITAL
SAN FRANCISCO, July 29.—(AP) Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, was "resting" in a San Francisco hospital today, recuperating from a general rundown condition.

Albert A. Calkins, manager of the 12th district of the RFC, said Jones would leave the hospital in a few days. Calkins explained Jones was physically worn out after his experience in a blazing airplane plunge in Texas.

Calkins said Jones was feeling better today, but refused to disclose in what hospital the RFC head was resting.

CHESTER C. DAVIS SEES DICTATORSHIP DANGER

Decries 'Mad Priest, Impractical Dreamer and Political Charlatan.'

BLACKSBURG, Va., July 29.—(AP) Chester C. Davis, member of the board of governors of the Federal Reserve System and former AAA administrator, warned tonight of the danger he said threatened America "when a mad priest, an impractical dreamer and a political charlatan combine to inflame the uninformed and the distressed."

"Then truly," he said, "we in the United States are looking at the forces which, on the other side of the Atlantic, have led toward lost liberty, chaos and destruction."

The greatest danger, Davis said in addressing the Rural Affairs Institute here, "ahead of America lies in the false and inflaming propaganda of the demagogue as it plays upon the uninformed and the distressed."

Davis expressed the belief that "our present policy of reciprocal trade agreements... is likely to break down trade barriers and lead to freer and more generous trade than the policy of strictly bi-lateral trade agreements."

The former agricultural administration administrator, who recently returned from an economic and agricultural study of 11 western European countries, argued against the trend toward economic nationalism which he said was being demanded by "powerful interests in America."

"My conclusions," he said, "boil down to this: If we move further in the direction of exclusion of foreign-made goods, of national isolation, of self-sufficiency in all things—agriculture, they call it in Europe—our agricultural exports will continue to shrink."

"Powerful forces are urging, in the name of the American farmer, that every competing agricultural commodity, every 'subsidized' and 'protective' thereof, be excluded from our shores. I say to you that this can only be accomplished in a political democracy by extending similar treatment to the protected industrial monopolies which are infinitely more clever at taking advantage of tariffs than farmers ever will be. It is their voice that now calls the tune."

Some people call for exclusion of imports and stimulation of exports by bi-lateral barter, he said, but Europe has tried this system and is "heartily sick" of it.

The New Deal spokesman vigorously defended the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, whose policies he said were designed to correct the faults of previous over-expansion of farm lands.

"I know that many people think of the government's agricultural program in terms of plowing under... But too much plowing under in the past had a lot more to do with the AAA than the AAA ever had to do with plowing under."

J. P. MORGAN BELIEVED ON CRUISE TO EUROPE

GLEN COVE, N. Y., July 29.—(AP) J. P. Morgan, apparently in excellent health, boarded his yacht, the Cosair, tonight for a southern trans-Atlantic crossing which probably will end in England.

His sons, Henry and Junius, who are remaining behind with other members of the family, joined a "bon voyage" party aboard the yacht late tonight as it lay off the west island home of Junius Morgan.

Dr. Everett Jessup, Morgan's personal physician, will make the cruise and will be the final word regarding the distance covered and the itinerary. It is expected, however, that Morgan will be able to repeat his annual trip to Scotland for the opening of the grouse shooting season on August 12.

Friends said he was fully recovered from his recent attack of neuritis which cut short a vacation in Massachusetts and forced him to return to his Long Island estate near here, crippled with pain.

STEEL WORKERS CLAIM FIRST MAJOR VICTORY

STERLING, Ill., July 29.—(AP)—A "major victory" in the national drive to unionize the steel industry was claimed tonight by Van A. Bittner, western director of the movement, as a result of settlement of a three-week-old strike at the Northwestern Barbed Wire Company plant here.

It was the first strike involved in the steel union campaign, Bittner said, adding: "And the first settlement."

Bittner asserted the end of the walkout—announced today by Robert Pilkington, mediator for the United States Labor Department—had been "negotiated by the committee for industrial organization," the group supporting Miner John L. Lewis' fight for horizontal unions.

ALVIN KARPIS ARRIVES AT LEAVENWORTH PEN

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., July 29.—(AP)—Alvin Karpis, notorious outlaw, entered Leavenworth federal penitentiary today to start his life term for the $100,000 William Hamm kidnap conspiracy.

Taking no chances on a possible attempt to liberate the ex-No. 1 bad man, federal operators placed themselves in strategic positions about the station as the train bearing Karpis and his guards arrived.

Manacled to Karpis was Charles J. Fitzgerald, also sentenced after pleading guilty in the Hamm case.

As the two walked down the railway car steps, a guard kept a sub-machine gun trained on Karpis' back. A barred prison truck was waiting.

Federal authorities have indicated Karpis might be transferred to Alcatraz prison.

NAVY STARTS DRIVE FOR 10,000 RECRUITS

Select Gobs Will Man 23 New Fighting Ships; Increases Total to 100,000.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—(AP)—To man 23 new fighting ships scheduled for completion this year, the navy has started a selective recruiting drive for 10,000 men to boost its total enlisted strength to 100,000 men.

Congress authorized an increase in man-power to the 100,000 figure to be reached by July 1, next year. Navy officials said today that, despite friendly competition from the army and Civilian Conservation Corps, more men were applying for navy enlistment than could be accepted.

The plans for expanding personnel were given urgency today when Admiral William H. Standley, acting navy secretary, said he had "not the slightest doubt" that construction of two new battleships would begin next year. He said contracts probably would be let sometime this fall. Renewed indications came from abroad simultaneously that keels for two new British ships would be laid next January.

During the last year a daily average of 88,000 men have manned the 224 navy ships. Officers estimated that gave combatant ships 85 per cent of their enlisted complements, the minimum essential to efficient peace-time operation.

The 10,000 to be enlisted will provide a daily average strength of 99,500 during the next year, officers said, and all will be assigned to duty on new ships as they are commissioned, or fill vacancies left by transfers of men now on ships in service.

Officers said that the navy was enlisting, by educational standards, the highest type men ever secured, many of them having high school and even college training. The number of applications has enabled the navy to set such standards that only one out of every 20 applicants is accepted.

The navy now has 6,531 officers while—with the new ships under construction—7,012 are needed for peace-time operation. The navy high command estimates it will need a 7,941 line-officer strength to man the treaty navy authorized for the year ended by 1942, including the 79 ships under construction and 16 appropriated for at the present time.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—(AP)—An increase of 12.2 per cent in customs collections for the year ended by June 30, over those of the preceding fiscal year, was reported today by the treasury.

Total collections for the 1936 fiscal year climbed to $388,773,987 from $346,505,321 for the previous year.

Although the New York district led volume of collections with $183,894,623, the report showed the largest percentage of increase was recorded in the Buffalo customs district where the collections jumped 149.4 per cent.

Comparative totals in the various collection districts for the two years, together with the percentage of change, follow:

District	1935	1936	Per Cent Increase
Florida	2,539,364	2,019,241	20.9
Georgia	3,223,045	2,729,045	38.2
Kentucky	388,064	333,280	7.1
Mobile	611,911	333,280	46.3

WASHINGTON, July 29.—(AP)—The 103rd camp meeting will open at 11 o'clock Sunday morning at the camp ground near Ben Hill with the Rev. Andrew Johnson, evangelist of Wilmore, Ky., as the principal preacher. It was announced yesterday by the Rev. Lester Rumble, presiding elder of the Atlanta district.

The Rev. Bill Boring will preach at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, and the Rev. Johnson will deliver the sermon at 8 o'clock Sunday night. Charlie Tillman, with a large chorus choir, will lead the song services.

The junior chorus will be conducted by James Waters, of Stone Mountain. The encampment is the 103rd to be held at the grounds, which have been improved with plants and shrubbery. Services will be held daily at 11 a. m., 3 p. m. and 8 p. m., with no Saturday afternoon service.

Headquarters and command posts will be established behind the defending "blue" lines. Contact between the command posts, headquarters and lines will be maintained through use of field radio, telephone and telegraph lines. Communications detachments will establish and repair lines during the fury of battle.

Reconnoitering parties will observe the enemy's advance and keep the "blue" commanders informed as to the "red" positions. Flares and signals will be brought into play as the warfare continues and dusk deepens into night.

Umpires will be attached to each group in the field. Besides deciding the Points will be won or lost according to the manner in which the commanding officers solve, or fail to solve, these problems and situations.

As much paraphernalia and as many actual problems as possible will be put into use, authorities at the fort said, to make the sham battle approximate actual warfare on the battlefield.

'Reds' To Attack Fort McPherson In Sham Battle Planned Tonight

With the belching roar of trench mortars and the typewriter-like rattat-tat of machine guns, "red" raiders will sweep on Atlanta tonight from out of the west in a desperate attempt to seize the city and Fort McPherson from the defending "blue" army.

The attacking "red" force is composed of men from the Twenty-second infantry, under command of reserve officers, and the "blue" defenders are made up of two Alabama reserve regiments.

The sham battle, slated to begin at dusk tonight, is the highlight of the Fairfield charge, preached the keynote sermon, following the opening exercises conducted by the presiding elder, assisted by the Revs. W. R. Wilkes, G. B. Hannan, H. M. Parker, H. C. Carswell and others.

KNOX TO BE NOTIFIED OF NOMINATION TODAY

Publisher Will Supplement Campaign Issues Initiated by Landon.

CHICAGO, July 29.—(AP)—Republican leaders from over the nation began arriving today for the party's second big campaign ceremony in a week—the formal notification of Colonel Frank Knox as the nominee for the vice presidency of the United States.

Tomorrow night in Chicago stadium, huge West Side auditorium which has been the setting for many a memorable event in sports and politics, the Chicago publisher will accept officially his post as running mate to Governor Alf Landon of Kansas, the nominee for president.

Colonel Knox in a speech, which will be broadcast nationally (over the National Broadcasting Company, Columbia Broadcasting System, Mutual Broadcasting System and affiliated networks), will supplement the discussion of campaign issues initiated last week by Governor Landon in his acceptance at Topeka.

The vice presidential candidate spent the day in conference with members of the notification committee. Each state and the territories will have an official representative on the group which will convey to Colonel Knox the formal word of his selection by the Cleveland convention for the party's second highest honor.

A citizens' arrangements committee headed by Chauncey McCormick, Chicago republican leader, and with former Vice President Charles G. Dawes as honorary chairman, asserted it expected 50,000 persons to hear the Knox talk, inside and outside the stadium.

They said the program would be the biggest republican event of the campaign this year in Illinois. John D. M. Hamilton, chairman of the republican national committee, will introduce Senator Frederick Steiwer, of Oregon, keynote at the Cleveland convention, who will deliver the notification address.

Then Colonel Knox will respond. He is scheduled to start about 9 p. m., Atlanta time.

Among the distinguished members of the party who will have seats of honor at the event will be members of the national committee and Clarence J. Brown, former lieutenant governor of Ohio, who is the committee's official representative at the ceremony.

TWO CARS OVERTURN WITH SMALL INJURY. Two automobiles overturned and a woman was pinned underneath about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the intersection of Kirkwood avenue and Pearl street but only minor injuries were suffered by the seven occupants of the two cars.

The automobile driven by Eldredge McDaniel, 18, of Brookhaven, Ga., collided with a machine driven by W. A. Hall, 37, of 960 Manigault street, S. E., and both machines were overturned.

Mrs. Carl McDaniel, 21, of 778-A Fulton terrace, was pinned under the machines and was the most seriously injured. She suffered lacerations of the hands and head, but was dismissed from Grady hospital after treatment. She was pulled from under the wreckage by Eldredge McDaniel and John Rogers, 17, her brother, of Plainville, Ga.

Other occupants of the McDaniel car were Mrs. McDaniel's husband, Homer McDaniel, 18, his brother, of Brookhaven, and Eugene McDaniel, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. McDaniel. All were shaken up in the crash. Both drivers were given copies of charges for reckless driving.

NAVY STARTS DRIVE FOR 10,000 RECRUITS

Select Gobs Will Man 23 New Fighting Ships; Increases Total to 100,000.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—(AP)—To man 23 new fighting ships scheduled for completion this year, the navy has started a selective recruiting drive for 10,000 gobs to boost its total enlisted strength to 100,000 men.

Congress authorized an increase in man-power to the 100,000 figure to be reached by July 1, next year. Navy officers said today that, despite friendly competition from the army and Civilian Conservation Corps, more men were applying for navy enlistment than could be accepted.

The plans for expanding personnel were given urgency today when Admiral William H. Standley, acting navy secretary, said he had "not the slightest doubt" that construction of two new battleships would begin next year. He said contracts probably would be let sometime this fall. Renewed indications came from abroad simultaneously that keels for two new British ships would be laid next January.

During the last year a daily average of 88,000 men have manned the 324 navy ships. Officers estimated that gave combatant ships 85 per cent of their enlisted complements, the minimum essential to efficient peace-time operation.

The 10,000 to be enlisted will provide a daily average strength of 100,000 during the next year, officers said, and all will be assigned to duty.

on new ships as they are commissioned, or fill vacancies left by transfers of men now on ships in service.

Officers said that the navy was enlisting by educational standards, the highest type men ever secured, many of them having high school and even college training. The number of applications has enabled the navy to set such standards that only one out of every 20 applicants is accepted.

The navy now has 6,531 officers while—with the new ships under construction—7,012 are needed for peace-time operation. The navy high command estimates it will need a 7,941 line-officer strength to man the treaty navy authorized to be achieved by 1942, including the 79 ships under construction and 16 appropriated for at the present time.

'Reds' To Attack Fort McPherson In Sham Battle Planned Tonight

With the belching roar of trench mortars and the typewriter-like rattling of machine guns, "red" raiders will sweep on Atlanta tonight from out of the west in a desperate attempt to seize the city and Fort McPherson from the defending "blue" army.

The attacking "red" force is composed of men from the Twenty-second infantry, under command of reserve officers, and the "blue" defenders are made up of two Alabama reserve regiments.

The sham battle, slated to begin at dusk tonight, is the highlight of the reserve encampment season at Fort McPherson, where reserve officers have been in training for the past several weeks.

Preparations for tonight's sham battle have been under way for a week. Leaders of both groups, the attackers and defenders, have been strengthening tactics and strategy. Machine gunners have been warming up by firing blanks at low swooping airplanes.

Alabama reserves will deploy from Fort McPherson early this morning and entrench themselves in positions from which they can best hold off the invaders. Machine gun nests will be set up at strategic points in the enemy's path. To beat off the attacking "red" force, "blue" defenders will make heavy use of trench mortars and one-pounders.

Headquarters and command posts will be established behind the defending "blue" lines. Contact between the command posts, headquarters and lines will be maintained through use of field radio, telephone and telegraph lines. Communications detachments will establish and repair lines during the fury of battle.

Reconnaissance parties will observe the enemy advance and keep the "blue" commanders informed as to the "red" positions. Flares and signals will be brought into play as the warfare continues and dusk deepens into night.

Umpires will be attached to each group in the field. Besides deciding the winner of the battle, the umpires will devise problems on the field, as situations develop, akin to events likely to develop on the battlefield during actual warfare. Points will be won or lost according to the manner in which the commanding officers solve, or fail to solve, these problems and situations.

As much paraphernalia and as many actual problems as possible will be put into use, authorities at the fort said, to make the sham battle approximate actual warfare on the battlefield.

Ruth Hallman Hill Appreciation Meeting Is Held at Mrs. Dorsey's

By Sally Forth.

THE Ruth Hallman Hill appreciation meeting of the Peachtree Garden Club proved a complete surprise to a valuable member who has been such a tower of strength in the horticultural organization. It was held at Mrs. R. T. Dorsey's Peachtree road home and the occasion was selected as the time to voice the high regard and love of the members for Ruth Hill, and seldom does such praise and adulation befall a mere member of an organization. Ruth Hill has never shirked any duty or refused to do anything requested of her at any hour of the day or night if it concerned the garden club. She was chairman of the first flower show arranged under the sponsorship of her garden club, and served for successive shows thereafter.

To work for the Peachtree Garden Club is one of her greatest pleasures, and she has set the pace for others to follow in her unflinching footsteps. Therefore the citation for distinguished service presented her at the meeting was a well-merited honor, bestowed upon the one and only Ruth Hallman Hill. Everything pertaining to a garden was drawn in the design decorating the attractive citation framed in brown and white molding.

Mrs. S. M. Imman was spokesman for the membership and not until she reached the last lines in her speech did Ruth Hill realize that she was a member upon whom the praise was being conferred. Mrs. Imman said: "Happy is that organization that is blessed with a member whose loyalty can be depended upon. Presidents turn to this member with confidence when a difficult piece of work is undertaken, knowing that the request for assistance will be gladly given with never a word of self. When members feel discouraged and out of tune she has a gift of listening and putting a word of cheer and optimism in her voice. Her thoughtfulness and sweetness are so spontaneous that officers and members have grown to rely on her, feeling certain that the club's name for doing the gracious and timely act can be depended upon in her hands. These are not fulsome words of flattery, but a heart-to-heart expression from the club to one of its members. The members feel a sincere affection for Ruth Hallman Hill and her unselfish loyalty and work for Peachtree Garden Club has not gone unnoticed and is deeply appreciated."

Original poems by Mrs. Jesse Draper paid tribute to Mrs. Hill and the purpose of the meeting was planned and brought to fruition by Mrs. Albert Thornton, club president. Peachtree Garden Club was organized in 1923 with Mrs. Andrew Calhoun as its inspiration. She unfolded the plan to some seven or eight friends one afternoon when she lived on West Peachtree street. Mrs. Hill was one of the charter members, having been at Mrs. Calhoun's home when the plan was presented, and she was elected the first vice president.

Mrs. Calhoun visited in Chattahoochee, her girlhood home, and found several garden clubs flourishing in that near-by Tennessee city. She thought that Atlanta needed just such a club, whose members could work for the beautification of their gardens and their city. Thus came into existence the Peachtree Garden Club, the first horticultural organization in Atlanta. Mrs. Phinley Calhoun was the first president, Mrs. Robert L. Cooney the second president and Mrs. Albert Thornton the incumbent leader of the club.

THE remaining weeks of summer hold many pleasurable days for Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Woodward if their forthcoming

Miss Betty Power, who has been attending a house party given by Miss Elise Hunter in South Boston, Va., has joined her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Chandler Power, for a visit to Washington, D. C., and New York city before returning to Columbia, S. C., where they are spending the summer.

Miss Lewis Becomes the Bride Of Mr. Chandler at Chapel Rites

The marriage of Miss Jane Elizabeth Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Caldwell Lewis, to John Liddle Chandler Jr., of Rome, was solemnized yesterday at 5:30 o'clock in the Winship chapel of the First Presbyterian church. Rev. Harold Shields performed the ceremony in the presence of a gathering of relatives and close friends.

Dr. Charles Sheldon rendered an appropriate program of nuptial music on the organ, and Ben Blinov sang "Because" and "O Promise Me." Palms and ferns were arranged to form an effective background for the baskets of Easter lilies and other white flowers and for the graceful seven-branched candelabra holding white burning tapers.

Miss Ellender Johnson, the maid of honor, was gown in an ankle-length afternoon dress of yellow mousseline de soie over taffeta. The waist featured tiny pin tucks and large puffed sleeves. She wore a picture hat of horsehair braid in a matching shade and her flowers were a bouquet of shasta daisies in cascade effect. Ushers were Forrest Shropshire and Dudley Magruder, of Rome, and Eugene Boyd and William Randolph III, of Atlanta.

The bride entered with her father, Joseph Caldwell Lewis, by whom she was given in marriage, and was met at the altar by the bridegroom and his best man, Chris Conyers. Her blond beauty was further enhanced by her exquisite wedding gown of lustrous white satin made along becoming princess lines accentuating her youthful figure. The gown was fashioned with built-up waistline and trimmed with satin-covered buttons on the long fitted sleeves. The train formed a riddle effect and was fastened at the waistline with a handsome pearl buckle. Rosepoint lace, which was on the dress worn by the bride's paternal grandmother on her fiftieth wedding anniversary, formed the neckline and ended in three points down the front of the waist. Her veil was of princess lace and was worn by her two sisters at their marriages. It was fitted to her head in cap-shape fashion and held in place by clusters of orange blossoms. The exquisite lace veil was of misty tulle. The bride carried a rosepoint lace handkerchief used by her mother, and her flowers were a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Lewis, mother of the bride, wore navy chiffon with matching accessories. Her corsage was of pink roses and lilies of the valley. Mrs. John L. Chandler, mother of the groom, wore powder blue chiffon with white accessories, and her corsage was of yellow roses and lilies of the valley.

The bride and bridegroom left immediately for a wedding trip and upon their return they will reside for the rest of the summer in Atlanta and Rome and will go to Tuscaloosa, Ala., in September, where they will establish residence while Mr. Chandler continues his medical studies.

Camp Fire Girls Will Meet Today. Camp Fire girls hold two day camps today at Mosley park at 10 o'clock, and at Avondale pool at 9:30 o'clock. Activities of the day include swimming, lunch, games and some craft work. Mrs. Elanor White, who is director of the Junior Red Cross in Atlanta, will be at Mosley park to teach first aid and other health requirements in Camp Fire. Miss Martha Holt and her group, Miss Martha North Avenue school in Hapeville, will be hostesses of the day and will have charge of the games. At Avondale star study will be the theme of the day and games and craft work will be centered around this theme.

A committee of awards will be held Saturday at 10 o'clock at Camp Fire headquarters, at which time all girls planning to take their rank at program on August 6, are eligible for examination. All girls intending to come should notify headquarters immediately.

Camp Fire girls meet at headquarters at 9:30 o'clock Friday morning for handicraft class. At 10 o'clock the class will go over to a local Sewing Machine Company for instruction in the use of machines and their attachments. Each girl will make an article for the Needlework Guild on the machine. The advanced class may attend the meeting or may complete work already started.

A bicycle breakfast will be held on Tuesday, in the woods behind the home of Mrs. Turner Dixon, at 2153 Pharr drive, N. E., in Emory. Girls will meet in groups and will ride out, meeting at 7:45 o'clock. Reservations should be made by noon Monday, at Walnut 3738, and each girl will bring 20 cents to cover cost of her breakfast. Girls working on the summer honor are earning honors required and those completing the work and expecting to receive the honor at the Council Fire should notify headquarters by noon Tuesday.

Miss Annie Galloway entertains at a lingerie shower honoring Miss Vivian James, bride-elect.

A picnic will be given at the farm home of Mrs. Clara B. Cassidy by the Supreme Forest Woodmen Circle, Maple Grove No. 86.

Executive board and group captains of the Home Makers' Class of the Moreland Avenue Baptist church meet at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. A. M. Jones, 390 Patterson avenue.

Miss Elise Hunter holds open house from 8 to 10 o'clock at her home on Ashby street honoring her guest, Miss Esther Hensel, of Wenatchee, Wash.

Farr-Baugh. Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Farr, of Newborn, announce the marriage of their daughter, Sara Ruth, to Louis Stanford Baugh, of Waverly Hall, on July 28, at the home of the bride.

Games and contests were enjoyed by the following guests: Betty Green, Laurie Vanderaar, Betty Baggett, Julie Farrington, Helen Morris, Margaret Gorman, Frances Mae Chapman, Martha Williams and Kathryn Lewis.

We may feel that we moderns are the inventors of streamlining for speed effects.

But Old Pop Time has had the years streamlined all along. They develop the only real speed.

The sandlot season brings the fact to mind with all the emphasis of a well-tossed cobblestone.

It was 1929 that the first of the organized sandlot seasons was tossed out on the sporting stage. And it was the best one to date with the Inman Park Cardinals, a swaggering lot of charming little swashbucklers as the heroes.

That was 1929. The lineup ran like this: "Dog" Leary, 1b.; "Bubber" Yarter, 3b.; Alf Anderson, 2b.; Wilbur Good Jr., cf.; "Scab" Scarboro, rf.; "Radio" Lytle, lf.; Jack Hutchinson, ss.; "Whistle" Roberts, c.; Tom Harper, p.; Mose Kunsburg, p.; Cary McQueen, sub; Marvin Partee, sub, and Joe Gershon, bat boy.

Where are they now?

Alf Anderson and Scarboro will be seniors at college next fall—and each will be captain of their baseball team—the former at Georgia and the latter at Auburn.

Joe Gershon, the bat boy and mascot of 1929, played first base for the University of Georgia freshman team last spring. Tom Harper is pitching for the White Provision Company in one of the amateur leagues of Atlanta.

"Bubber" Yarter belongs to the Philadelphia Athletics and is on one of their farms.

Wilbur Good Jr. signed with the Cardinals three years ago and still is a member of that baseball chain.

I remember the games at Washington—with the players marching into the stadium behind Herbert Hoover, who looked bored with it all. And the final game with Buffalo—the Cardinals up with the bases full and two out.

And a called strike for the third out. It looked low.

Later the umpire said: "I could have called it either way. Had he called it a ball the Cardinals would have gone on and become national champions."

No other sandlot team has ever come close to matching the exploits of that gang—on the diamond or off. And they've turned out well—two college captains, some professional players and a lot of good boys.

The sandlot program decidedly is worth while.

Cousin Ty and Cousin Babe.

Up in the Naxth Georgia mountains they will tell you that Johnny Mize, the hard-hitting Cardinal, got all his hitting power from his pappy.

The elder Mize was a hero of the hills, being a slugger whose name was known wherever baseball was played. He had major league offers but refused them all.

Now, Johnny Mize is carrying on the name. They put the Demorest boy back into the Cardinal lineup a few weeks ago—report has it on orders from Branch Rickey—and he has beaten

TWO U. S. BOXERS ARE SENT HOME; SCANDAL DENIED

'Homesick Cases,' Say Officials; De Coubertin Suggested for Prize.

By Alan Gould.

BERLIN, July 29.—(AP)—The Olympic setting, still pursued by the weather jinx, was far from peaceful tonight despite a proposal before the opening session of the International Olympic committee that the Nobel peace prize be awarded to Baron Pierre de Coubertin, whose suggestion of 40 years ago led to the modern revivals of the games.

During another stormy day with the athletes of 50 nations struggling to practice in between thundershowers and elaborate machinery moving at full speed for the grand opening Saturday, the American contingent contributed another full share to the disturbing developments.

Two boxers, labelled "homesick cases," were shipped back to the United States on the Manhattan; the Washington crew's brilliant stroke oar, Done Hui, joined the rapidly growing sick list and dealt a stunning blow for the time being to America's chances of keeping the Olympic eight-rowing title, and enough other casualty reports were received to make prospects before the actual firing begins somewhat discouraging.

NO LOOP-HOLE.

In sharp contrast to the handling of the Eleanor Holm Jarrett case which was given a complete airing from start to finish, Olympic officials shipped Howell King, of Detroit, first-string welterweight boxer, and Joe Church, of Batavia, N. Y., featherweight alternate, home without leaving much loop-hole for any comeback.

Despite some repercussions mild by comparison with those which followed the previous break in the American team's ranks, Roy Davis, of Chicago, manager of the boxing team, stood pat on his statement that "both boys were shipped home because they were too homesick to be of any further value to the team in any capacity, even as sparring partners."

Davis flatly denied there ever was the slightest basis for the report that the boxers had violated training rules and refused to comment on talk that the boys had misused their privileges while on leave from the Olympic village. The German press was told officially the boxers couldn't "stand the climate."

Exercising the full authority with which it is invested, the boxing committee handled the entire case and merely reported the facts to Olympic "higher-ups." The matter was considered closed.

LONDON WITHDRAWALS.

A bid on behalf of London for the 1940 Olympics was withdrawn tonight following opening formalities of the three-day sessions of the International Olympic committee.

The Japanese appeared worried during the afternoon lobbying, fearing a combination of European opposition to holding the games in the far east.

Tokyo, however, already has been assured backing by the American and Canadian committees.

William May Garland, of Los Angeles, only American representative at the formal opening, revealed that Avery Brundage, president of the American Olympic committee, definitely was assured of election to one of the two vacancies in the American delegation. There still was no definite indication of whether Gustavus T. Kirby or Murray Hulbert, both of New York, would gain the remaining place.

Balked by the morning rain, American athletes took advantage of a lull in the stormy weather for a workout in the village late this afternoon.

END TRAINING.

Led by Jesse Owens, Ohio State negro star, 15 track and field athletes who compete in the opening event Sunday will top off their training tomorrow. All will be excused from participating Saturday in the Olympic parade and opening ceremonies in the stadium.

Jack Torrance, of Baton Rouge, La., and Dimitri Zaitz, Boston College, the shot putters, continued so far off form that only a sensational comeback will prevent the gold medal in this event escaping from American hands. Torrance's best was slightly over 50 feet today. Zaitz sprained right hand and is taped and his practice efforts were dismal. Sam Francis, Nebraska's lefthanded shot putter, was just short of 50 feet.

Six Tigers Given New Automobiles

DETROIT, July 29.—(AP)—Six Detroit Tigers today had new automobiles.

The squad was invited to attend an automobile dealers' banquet Monday night. Only Schoolboy Rowe, Leon Goslin, Marvin Owen, Gerald Walker, Jack Burns and Sally Parker, recently of Toledo, accepted. Each found a certificate at his plate entitling him to a new automobile. No provision was made for the players who did not accept the invitation.

The Tiger dugout rang with salty dialogue today as the news spread among the absentees. Said Pitcher Joe Sullivan, "I changed my mind about going to that banquet in order to be with my brother. I hadn't seen him in 15 years. I hope I don't see him in 15 more."

Said Charlie Gebringer, the usually infallible second baseman who committed errors on four successive days: "Gee, I'm even booting automobiles now."

Buford Wins To Break Record

RIEFORD, Ga., July 29.—Buford defeated Porterdale, 9-1, here today to break the world's record for consecutive wins in amateur baseball. It was the Shoemakers' 32nd straight victory, one more than the record. In the last 76 games they have won 70, lost 5 and tied 1.

Gene Nix, Buford twirler, held Porterdale in check throughout the entire contest. Only in the ninth inning did the visitors even touch him. It was then that they secured two of four hits and their only run. Nix fanned seven.

The Shoemakers' twirler also started at bat, garnering three hits. Warren and McSwain also hit well for Buford.

Buford will attempt to lengthen its list of straight victories to 33 Friday night when it meets the strong Warren team in Atlanta at 8:30 o'clock. The Warren boys have one of the foremost amateur teams in the Atlanta section, and the game should be a test for Buford.

Wood Beats Parker In Seabright Tourney

SEABRIGHT, N. J., July 29.—(UP)—Sidney B. Wood Jr., of New York, fifth in national ranking and former Davis cup tennis player, today came from behind to defeat Frankie Parker, of Spring Lake, N. J., in the quarter-final round of the forty-ninth annual Seabright international.

Wood, top ranking player of the tourney after withdrawal of Don Budge, of California, rallied after being only one point from elimination and defeated Parker, 6-4, 6-0, 8-6 victory over Parker.

Wood will meet Johnny McDiarmid, of Chicago, in tomorrow's semi-finals. McDiarmid won an easy match from Barney Welch, of Rockville, Md., 6-4, 6-2.

The only other seeded star, Gregory Mangin, of Newark, N. J., No. 4, defeated Hal Surface, of Kansas City, to advance into the round of four. Score was 6-4, 6-2.

Tomorrow Mangin engages Joe Hunt, of Los Angeles, who today defeated Wayne Sabini, of Portland, Ore., 6-4, 6-2.

The seeded women players fared better, with three of them moving into the semi-finals. Caroline Babcock, of Los Angeles, first choice to win the title, defeated Katharine Winthrop, of Brookline, Mass., 6-4, 6-1.

Miss Babcock tackles in tomorrow's round of four Mme. Sylvia Henrotin, of France, who upset Marjorie Gladman Van Ryn, of Philadelphia, seeded third, 7-5, 6-4.

Apiece Marble, of Los Angeles, looted to a 6-0, 6-3 victory over Florence Le Boulanger, of New York. In the semi-finals, Miss Marble will meet a fellow Californian, Gracyn Wheeler, of Santa Monica, who advanced with a 7-5, 6-3 triumph over Mrs. Dorothy Andrus, of New York.

Yates Scores Ace With Card of 67

Charlie Yates, practicing for the National Amateur qualifying, fired a great 67 over the Capital City course yesterday, scoring an ace on the 14th hole.

Yates used a masher to carry 175 yards for his hole-in-one. He was playing in a foursome with W. W. Winter, W. C. Curry and R. C. Williams. He seems to be ready for the National Amateur.

Billy Gillespie, 15-year-old Boys' High star and leading city tennis prospect, leaves Friday for the boys' and junior national championships at Culver, Ind. Gillespie also will play in the national public parks tournament at St. Louis, Mo., and in the national interscholastic doubles and singles. Rivals say he has the strongest forehand in the state. Staff photo by George Cornett.

Billy Gillespie Boasts Best Forehand in State

Brightest Atlanta Prospect Leaves Friday for National Meet at Culver.

By Jack Troy.

He has the strongest forehand in the state of Georgia. That's what his tennis-playing rivals are saying of Billy Gillespie, 15-year-old junior at Boys' High, who leaves Friday for the national boys' and junior tournament at Culver, Ind. The tournament begins Monday. He's regarded as the brightest prospect in Atlanta tennis ranks.

Gillespie capped his recent achievements by winning the public parks title. He defeated Marion Reese in the finals.

A year ago Gillespie wouldn't have stood a chance against Reese. In his tournament at Thomaston.

Weldon was runner-up in the race at the Augusta meet, and has gone far in several of the summer tournaments.

He has a strong forehand. He has a steady backhand and a strong service. CONQUERS TEMPERAMENT.

They used to say of Billy Gillespie that his temperament was all wrong. He'd go into a rage at missing shots and getting run all over the court by a more experienced opponent.

But that all changed as Gillespie became more experienced. Now he is running his old rivals all over the court and they're doing the raving.

Billy Gillespie has a fine temperament for the game. He isn't easily upset and he's willing to fight all day for a point if necessary.

There are several things his game needs. Such as brushing up on his service. He tries to hit it too hard, at times, and loses points on double faults. Then, too, he could use a stronger backhand. He has a steady backhand now.

Anyway, Billy Gillespie is the No. 1 tennis prospect in Atlanta; and he is coming along. He'll get the experience he needs in the national tournaments.

ENTERS BIG MEETS.

Following the Culver championships, Gillespie will play in the national public parks tournament at St. Louis, Mo., August 17-23. Then he'll take in the national interscholastic doubles on August 27. He'll play in the national interscholastic singles on September 3.

On the trip he will be accompanied by his brother, Campbell Gillespie, who is only 18. They'll play doubles together in some tournaments.

Campbell, himself, is an accomplished player and a rather bright prospect. Both boys are skipping the Georgia state tournament here on August 17.

The national public parks meet confers prize in national tennis this year. Billy is not expected to set a pace in the next season. But he's a real prospect and fame will come.

He's determined to make a name for himself in the game. He's getting his expenses from the tennis association for the national tournaments. All of which is not bad for a 15-year-old Atlanta boy.

WILLIAMS WINS ELEVENTH GAME FOR CHAMPIONS

McColl, Petticoles and Chase Feel Wrath of Rough Attack.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., July 19. The question yesterday was not "What's wrong with the Crackers?" but "What's wrong with the Lookouts?"

What Atlanta lacked to get off to a commanding lead yesterday the Lookouts helped out with chipping in with some miserable defensive work. Before the Lookouts could pull themselves together every semblance of a contest had disappeared and the Crackers coasted to a 8-3 victory.

That's not to take anything away from the Crackers who had their heads up every minute. In fact it was some very cagey work by Eddie Moore coaching at third which led to the Lookout downfall. Both teams were due to be dead on their feet abt from the game the night before, but not the Crackers.

The boys who have been whooping it up about the Crackers slipping have been slipping us a very dirty trick, or so it seemed yesterday. And Joe Engel's Lookouts had been going at such a terrific pace, too. It was awful. That is, until the seventh, when the Lookouts woke up, rapped in a pair of runs to save their faces.

SINGTON STOPPED.

Big Freddie Sington was stopped cold for the day.

Atlanta scored in the first on Mailho's single to left. Browne's single over Oliver's head, Hamel's sacrifice and Lipscomb's fly to left. Chattanooga evened it in the last half when Mihalic walked, took second on a passed ball, third on Oliver's infield out and home on Wright's fly to center.

The Lookouts came apart at the seams in the third. Browne led with a walk and Hamel sacrificed. Lipscomb singled to right, Sington fumbling the ball. Browne scoring and Lipscomb taking second. When McColl cut off Sington's throw as Eddie Moore yelled "cut it off." Alex threw wild to second, Lipscomb going to third. Richards' out tallied Lipscomb.

Alex proved his own undoing in the

Farmers Defeat Romans, 10-5, Meet 'Y' Crackers Here Today

WEST END BOWS TO ROME, 6 TO 4, IN SEMI-FINALS

Game Scheduled for Ponce de Leon at 4 O'Clock.

By Roy White.

CARROLLTON, Ga., July 29.—Carrollton's Farmers will meet the Atlanta Y. M. C. A. Crackers at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon at Ponce de Leon park in the first of three games to decide the North Georgia sandlot baseball championship. The second game will be played here at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon in the third game, if necessary, also scheduled for Carrollton Saturday afternoon.

The Farmers, defending their 1935 state championship, won the right to meet the Y Crackers with a 10-5 victory over a tired Rome nine here this afternoon. Rome earlier in the day defeated the West End Pirates, the last of Atlanta's four entries, 8 to 4, while Carrollton drew a bye in the semi-final round.

Today's final was an erratic game with both teams committing several costly errors and exhibiting some poor base running, particularly in the early innings. The errors were due to both teams being tight and tense and they appeared to have stage fright with the largest crowd of the tournament looking on.

SHOWERS IN SIXTH.

Oliver Lester, started for the Farmers and fared well until the sixth inning when Rome sent him to the showers with a barrage of base hits and four runs. He had given up but three hits in the five innings, but weakened under the hottest sun of the week. Harry Holden, who turned back Grant Park Monday afternoon, was called from left field and did a fine job of relief pitching, holding

GEHRIG CLOUTS 32D HOME RUN IN YANKEE WIN

GIANTS WALLOP CUBS, 7-2, BEHIND WHITEHEAD'S BAT

But Indians Gain With Double Triumph Over Senators.

DETROIT, July 29.—(AP)—The New York Yankees blasted the Tigers out of the first division today, with Lou Gehrig hitting his 32d homer to lead a 15-hit attack for a 13-to-3 victory.

Despite the win, however, the Yankees' league lead was cut to 8 1/2 games by the second-place Indians' double-header victory over Washington.

While Charley Ruffing and Pat Malone held the Tigers to nine hits, the former taking credit for the victory, "murderers' row" landed on Joe Sullivan and Elden Auker to score off their runs in the first five innings before being stopped by the final two Detroit hurlers, Chad Kinsler and Romie Lawson.

Gehrig, with two singles as well as his homer, and Joe DiMaggio, with a triple and two singles, driving in four runs, paced the Yankee attack. The Cleveland Indians defeated the Washington Senators in both games of a double-header, 11-4 and 6-5. Hal Trosky, Tribe first baseman, clouted his 27th home run of the season in the first inning of the opener.

Chicago's White Sox, coming from behind with a six-hit attack good for four runs in the seventh inning, defeated the Philadelphia Athletics, 7 to 5, to go ahead in the current series two games to one.

Merritt Cain turned in his tenth victory of the season, leading the St. Louis Browns climbed back into seventh place today by defeating the Boston Red Sox, 9 to 3, as the Chicago White Sox won from the Athletics.

Starting Pitcher Bobby Smith retired in the big seventh inning after Jensen singled with one out and scored on Paul Bauer's triple. Jim Chapman took up hurling for the Bees but with little success.

TARZAN AND THE MAYAN GODDESS No. 28

His hands clutching the mad bull's horns, Tarzan threw all his power into a sudden twist. The bull toppled to the ground. No rodeo champion could have done a neater and quicker job of "bulldozing." Cheers, in Spanish and Indian dialects, rose from the crowd.

Tarzan held the beast until its owner and his friends came to take it away. And now Padre Dornand, returning from the deceptive mission into which he had been tricked by Raglan's messenger, hurried toward the excitement in the plaza, where he met Major Martling.

They greeted each other cordially and Martling introduced the kindly priest to the others of his party. "And the document," the explorer asked eagerly, "is it safe?" "Quite safe," the padre smiled; "we'll go at once to my quarters and I'll deliver it into your hands."

But in the priest's home they found the wreckage left by Raglan—and the document was gone. "It happened within the hour," the padre exclaimed. "The thief is probably on his way to the Lost City," Tarzan observed calmly; "we must try to trail him—at once!"

Kitty All-Stars Trip

First Place Paducah

PADUCAH, Ky., July 29.—(P)—The Paducah Indians, first-half champions of the Kitty league, fell before the loop's all-stars, 3 to 0, in this afternoon's 2,000 fans, the largest crowd since the league was revived in 1935, looked on.
 John Long, Fulton right-hander, was the outstanding star, holding Paducah to one run and two hits in four innings and getting three hits himself. Bud Adams, Hopkinsville, who won first-half batting laurels with a .403 average, got four safeties.
 Allen Hayes, the league's leading pitcher, was the victim of his own wildness and jittery play on the part of the champions.
